

Boxing club organizer Dwight Sleigh, left, applies some Vaseline to the face of club member Bill Budd in preparation of a few rounds of sparring. The Vaseline helps the glove slide across the face, thereby reducing the chances of a cut. The club, set up by Dwight, is ready to go but is being held up because of a lack of an appropriate location.

Boxing club needs help

Looking for location

By Keith Bolender
For the past few months Dwight Sleigh has been on the ropes, wondering if his plans for a Stouffville boxing club will ever get off the ground.

Dwight, a resident of Stouffville for two years, has been trying to get the club going since June. The problem is not one of response, he already has 12 youngsters ready to go, but one of location.

"I haven't been able to find a suitable hall, home or building yet. I've got everything else, except for some place to train and box." Dwight lamented.

He's been to council and to the area school, but with no success. "The schools all say it's just impossible to let me set up there because of all their other activities. I need a place where I can have it on a regular schedule."

He did admit, however, that council was a little more helpful, as they offered him a building in Vondorf. "Unfortunately, I had to turn it down because of travel problems."

So now Dwight is operating out of his basement, using his equipment whenever the kids want to come over and work out, which they do often. So far its been mainly weight training for the kids, as Dwight is hesitant to start them sparring until he has a proper set-up.

The club is made up mainly of the boys Dwight coached on his Bantam baseball team this summer. Besides the ball team, he will be coaching the Midget Juvenile hockey club this winter.

Dwight himself was once a proficient boxer, winning two golden glove titles in the seven years he fought in the light welterweight division. He was boxing out of St. Johns, New Brunswick.

His interest in the sport never waned, as evident by the time and trouble he's spent so far.

"It's the kids that keep my interest going. They're all so enthusiastic. I'm doing this for the kids, to have someplace to go and something to do, that's why it's so frustrating that I can't find a place yet."

His plans for a Wintario grant have also been held up, "until I find a place I can't do a thing."

"The interest in the club is definitely here, now I just need a little help in finding a place."

Dwight who says the club will be open to anyone who wants to work out or get in some sparring, realized he can't wait forever for a location.

"I'll just take it as it comes, I don't know what I'll do if I can't get a place. Hopefully something will come up; it would be a real shame for the boys if we couldn't get the club going."

He noted that the location would have to be big enough to hold his weight training equipment, heavy punching bag and a boxing ring. Anyone who might be able to help Dwight solve his problem can call him at 640-4639.

Keith Acton

With Montreal farm club

Keith Acton is Halifax bound following his tryout with the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League.

Keith, from Stouffville, signed with the Montreal team in this year's draft, and has been at their camp in Quebec City for the past two weeks.

However, he got word last week that he was being sent down to the Canadiens farm team, the Halifax Voyageurs. With the amount of talent on the Montreal club it comes as no surprise.

Hockey standings

The Stouffville men's hockey league began their inaugural season last week. Standings after the first week of play are:
