Hill-Rodin-Lafleur

H.S. super stars in past 25 years

By JIM THOMAS STOUFFVILLE Physical Education Instructor Jim Rehill has completed twenty years at Stouffville High.

In all that time, some great athletes have passed through the system, "super stars" in many areas of sport. Who's No. 1?

Jim Rehill refuses to be backed into a corner on such a difficult question for, in his books. there are at least three No. 1's. And a few others only a few strides back.

Absolutely THE best, in his opinion are: Jim Hill, Bruce Rodin and Mike Lafleur with others like Phil Kinfon, Roger Stover, Laurie Buckland, Peter Sanderson, Ian Montgomery, Larry wasn't good enough. "He kids looked up to him," Bacon and Allan Bacon all qualifying for runners-

Jim Rehill qualified his selection by stating track and field. A that 18 to 20 years ago, he himself was rather 'green' at the game; also, the opportunities to excel weren't available. For example, Roger Stover was "outstanding", but there weren't that many teams and athletes didn't compete at such high

STOUFFVILLE . The school year of 1978-79 is one Gary Taylor will. always, remember. He was the president of the Student's Council at S.D.S.S. While the position carries with it considerable responsibility, Gary looks back on it as a "learning experience", an involvement that, in his words, "has made me a more complete per-

The Council, he said, was limited on what it could do due to a sizeable debt incurred prior to Christmas. This figure, he explained, had been cut back · considerably. This, he said, should enable the Council of 79-80 to start off in fairly good

A highlight of the year, in Gary's opinion, was the return of the 1979 May Prom to the school. "The event was very successful," he said, "the committee broke even for the first time in years". Gary refuses to accept credit for Council's accomplishments but rather points to members of the executive for the responsible manner in which business was carried out including, vice-president, Ross Todd; treasurer, Mark Tranter; secretary, Susan Thomas; social convenor Brian Beesley; Year Book editor, Kevin Widdifield and newspaper editor, Pam Schmidt. Through The Tribune, Gary wishes his successor Melissa Paterson the best of luck as she assumes the reins of office in September.
