

Couple wed in Texas

STOUFFVILLE — The First Church of Nazarene, Port Arthur, Texas, was the scene on the evening of Monday, March 19, of a candlelight wedding for Dianna Caye Stuart and David Leonard Herbert.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Charles E. Stuart of Port Arthur, Texas. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Herbert, Hawthorne Avenue, Stouffville.

The bride's father officiated at the double ring ceremony. Given in marriage by her mother and father, the bride was lovely in a white organza "Southern Belle" gown, overlaid in chantilly lace.

The bodice was trimmed in seed pearls, the sleeveless were long and fitted with a wide cuff, and the bouffant, three-tiered skirt fell softly from the waist to form a chapel train.

Falling from a modified Juliet cap of lace and seed pearls, the illusion veil was edged in lace. The bride carried white rosebuds and stephanotis.

Mrs. Pam Bohn was Matron of Honor. She and the four bridesmaids, Mrs. Rebekah Stallings, Miss Leanne George, Miss Camille Mitchell, and Miss Esther Herbert wore identical floor-length gowns of pastel blue, featuring empire waistlines and deep ruffled skirts. Each carried a single, long-stemmed white rose, set off with blue satin streamers.

While the groom wore a white tuxedo with all-white accessories, the groomsmen were dressed in silver. They were Rick Stuart, Steve Smith, Marcus Kidwell, and Tom Thompson. Timothy Herbert of Stouffville served as Best Man for his brother, David.

Miss Cindy Maule, pianist, Les Stallings, trumpeter, and Rebekah Stallings, soloist, presented wedding selections throughout the ceremony.

After the wedding, the reception was held at Rose Hill Manor, a spacious, restored southern mansion, now owned by the city of Port Arthur.

The bride's mother, Carolyn Stuart, received the guests in a long-sleeved gown of rose crepe. She was assisted by the groom's mother, Ruth Herbert, in a gown of turquoise chiffon. Both mothers wore corsages of white orchids.

Hostesses at the bride's table were Denise Stipe and Sharon Johnson, while at the groom's table they were Sharon Smith and Elizabeth Gumas, David's cousins. After a wedding trip to Galveston, Texas, the couple took up residence in Bethany, Oklahoma, where both are in their senior year at Bethany Nazarene College.

Among the many out-of-town guests were the bride's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Dodgem, Austin, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Dodgem, Lisa, and Cameron, Austin, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Rick Stuart, Bethany, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Herbert and Phyllis of Willowdale; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Herbert, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Herbert, Esther, and Timothy, Stouffville; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gough, Salem, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis, Altona; Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Schneider and Kris, Waterloo; Miss Elizabeth Gumas, Wood Hole, Massachusetts; Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Smith, Sharon and Steve, Oklahoma City; Mr. and Mrs. Les Stallings, Denver Colorado.

Dianna Caye Stuart and David Leonard Herbert were married in the First Church of Nazarene, Port Arthur, Texas last March. The bride's father, Charles E. Stuart, officiated at the double ring ceremony. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Herbert, Hawthorne Avenue, Stouffville.

Olive Komar Teacher retires

WHITCHURCH — Olive Komar was only 18 when she first started teaching on the staff at S.S. No. 4 in Pine Orchard in the fall of 1939 for a then "whopping" $650 a year, and she admits "I thought I was a millionaire."

Now her career is coming to a close with her retirement this month fulfilling a goal she has had since she was "very, very young" - to teach for 40 years.

While 36 of her teaching years have been spent in the Aurora area, Mrs. Komar was born and still lives in a house on the Fourth Concession of Whitchurch.

Just recently Olive was honored in Aurora for her long and capable years of service and had a chance to reminisce with pride about 4 decades of classes and the countless students whom she has provided with both, guidance and knowledge.

While Olive doesn't look or act like a candidate for retirement, she does say she is ready after a rewarding and far reaching career in the educational system.

After four years at Pine Orchard, Olive moved to Aurora's elementary school on Church Street and began there in the fall of 1943.

From there Olive and the rest of the elementary staff moved into Wells when World War II ended. "The whole class cheered." On the other hand, the saddest moment was when the principal announced over the PA system that U.S. President John F. Kennedy had been assassinated. "The whole class cried."

Another highlight in Olive's career was when she was chosen by the school board to design the art room for the new Aurora Senior Public School. When it opened in 1968 she became the art teacher and still teaches art to all the school's students and also has the Grade 6 and 7 history classes.

Some memories from Olive's 40-year career which pop quickly to her mind include rescuing the "Grade 1 Rascal" from a schoolmate who was trying to stuff him into the furnace at Pine Orchard School, enjoying school skating parties and Christmas concerts and Halloween parades down Yonge Street, and canvassing the Aurora Public School Board members for permission to get married.

Mrs. Komar recalls how one of her students who was stricken with polio finally learned to use his legs, triumphantly getting to school on his own by pushing his tricycle ahead of him. She says the happiest day was at Wells Street School when World War II ended. "The whole class cheered." On the other hand, the saddest moment was when the principal announced over the PA system that U.S. President John F. Kennedy had been assassinated. "The whole class cried."

At the night held in honor of Olive, her principal Lloyd White summed up perfectly what everybody who has been associated with her knows so well. "Her dedication, sincerity and love for her work has had not only a tremendous impact on her colleagues and students, but has been an inspiration to all of us throughout the years."

Mrs. Komar ended her speech to those who had gathered to honor her by saying: "I know I can be easily replaced, but I hope I won't be easily forgotten."

The standing ovation that followed showed beyond a doubt that Olive Komar need not worry about being forgotten.

Sheep show

MARKHAM — Don't be sheepish! Drop in to the Markham Fairgrounds, July 13, 14, and 15 for Sheep Focus '79.

In its second year, Sheep Focus has been expanded to a three day event with lots to offer to both producers and consumers of lamb and wool.

During the three day event, there will be six commercial sheep sales, sheep shows, sheep-to-shawl spinning contests, shearing and handling demonstrations, wool workshops, exhibits on lamb and wool production, the auction sale of fleece, shawls, and carcasses, and of course delicious lamb-on-a-bun for sale.

The event is sure to give an inside look at one aspect of rural Ontario life.
