

Singles club opening soon

UXBRIDGE — "Ship Ahoy" ... a place to anchor and tie knots of friendship.

The location Kent Meadows, a singles club soon to open in Uxbridge.

Kent Meadows is comprised of a stately club house and a wide range of recreational facilities on a 21 acre property. The headquarters will be in Toronto, a coachhouse consisting of an office and large lounge with a fireplace.

An open-house is scheduled for Sept. 8 between 2 p.m. and 6 p.m., to acquaint potential members with the club's facilities.

A Kent Meadows hostess describes it as "a place where singles can meet in a relaxed atmosphere, away from the disco and bar scene."

Members will be able to enjoy their favorite recreation, while at the same time, meeting other singles.

Club hosts will assist individually with introductions and "break the ice" where necessary.

Inside the house there's a lounge with a bar, fireplace and indoor barbecue; a Florida music room; sauna and shower facilities; as well as billiard and table-tennis rooms.

The grounds include two ponds and a boarding stable. Indoor and outdoor swimming pools and tennis courts are planned for the site.

Organizers wish to have an "exclusive membership of genuine persons with normal outlooks and interests."

So far, an equal representation of both sexes has shown interest in Kent Meadows. It will be geared to the 25 to 50 age group. The membership fee is $500 a year.

Committees will be formed with captains overseeing all the individual activities, including music, boating, tennis, stable, outside entertainment and hospitality.

With the opening of Kent Meadows, it appears like area singles will have an excellent place to mingle with others of similar status and interests.

At Stouffville High

Strive to meet school deadline

STOUFFVILLE — What goes on at Stouffville Dist. Secondary School during the summer?

A lot more than most people probably realize.

Since school holidays began in June, secretaries and the janitorial staff have had their hands full, readying SDSS for the upcoming fall term.

Head janitor Pete Lacey, and his staff of seven caretakers and one matron, have been doing a major cleanup over the summer.

Ceilings and walls are cleaned, and every inch of floor space is meticulously scrubbed, washed and waxed.

As well, all desks are washed and "degummed," and lockers are cleaned and sprayed with insecticide.

The janitors' efforts have been plagued by an increasingly high amount of vandalism. They are constantly being interrupted from their duties to replace broken windows.

The janitors have been doing their best and if all goes well, with no more interruptions, they should have the school ready by the Sept. 4 deadline.

Marie Clubine has been kept busy fulfilling the many administrative tasks essential to insuring things go smoothly when school begins.

In charge of a staff of eight secretaries during the school year, Mrs. Clubine is currently handling the summer workload, with the assistance of a secretary from King City Secondary School.

Their duties have included filing marks from last year; preparing the necessary attendance forms for the coming year; compiling Grade 8 timetables and updating class lists.

Mrs. Clubine also had the important job of making sure that the Ministry of Education received the marks of all of last year's Grade twelve and thirteen students.

Through the summer months, Mrs. Clubine has been called upon on a regular basis to supply transcripts of marks of former students entering university. She recently traced back to 1930 to find a student's record.

In past weeks, six high school students have been numbering, stamping and sorting text books.

Mrs. Clubine says that the administrative end of things is in "good shape," and everything will be ready when the school opens its doors next Tuesday.

"Girl Next Door"

A summer gardener

STOUFFVILLE

Cutting cabbage and tying cauliflower aren't easy jobs. Seventeen year old Rhonda Jordan, Burkholder Street, Stouffville, realized this when she went to work last May at Lehman's Gardens, Ninth Line North near Bloomington. For it was her third season there; full-time during the holidays and weekends while school's on.

Rhonda's day begins at 8 a.m. and ends at six. "I'm so tired when I get home, I just eat and go to bed," she said. The first few days are the worst, she admits. After that, she doesn't mind it so much; in fact, she enjoys it, the country air, the exercise and the money.

During July and August, her weekends are free. She also had four days off to spend at Camp Killbear near Peterborough.

Rhonda's our "Girl Next Door".

Born in Scarborough, she moved at an early age to Hillsdale Drive, Musselman's Lake. She still retains fond memories of the Lake area, the swimming, the snowmobiling and the picnics. Stouffville's been 'home' for the past six years. She attended elementary school at St. Mark's and this fall will enter Grade 12 at S.D.S.S.

What then? Rhonda hopes to go on to Seneca College in a three-year Hotel Management and Tour Guide Course.

She has two sisters and one brother, Leona, 18; Tracy, 15 and Fred, 20. She and her sisters get along well together, she says, sharing many of the same friends.

Seventeen year old Rhonda Jordan, Burkholder Street, Stouffville, will enter Grade 12 at Stouffville High when school resumes this fall. Physically, it should prove a rest, since she's been working hard all summer at Lehman's Gardens, Ninth Line North near Bloomington. Following graduation next June, Rhonda plans to go on to Seneca College in a Hotel Management and Tour Guide Course.

Pioneer festival Sept. 15

The savory atmosphere of an old-fashioned harvest celebration, will be recaptured on Sat., Sept. 15 when members of the Mennonite community, the Pennsylvania German Folklore Society and the staff at Black Creek Pioneer Village host the 23rd annual festival.

The event, that yearly attracts thousands of visitors, opens at 10 a.m. and closes at four.

The auction of homemade quilts will be a feature along with tons and tons of food.

An old-fashioned spelling bee will be held near the entrance to the village schoolhouse.

Admission is unchanged at $3.00 for adults; $1.50 for senior citizens and 75 cents for students and children. There's a maximum family fee of six dollars.

Black Creek Pioneer Village is located on the south-east corner of Steeles Avenue and Jane Street.
