

Late Del Jennings

Fire chief in village

STOUFFVILLE — Stouffville has lost one of its native residents, a man who, during his nearly 85 years, was involved in many areas of community life.

Del Jennings was born on Clarke Street in Stouffville, the son of Jacob and Mary-Ann Jennings. His service with the Bethesda and Stouffville Telephone Company spanned 43 years, retiring in 1960 when the firm was bought out by Bell.

Del Jennings is one of the last links with Stouffville's past. Some may still recall how he and his brother Tom would erect and light a huge Christmas tree in front of the former firehall beside the clock tower. When village electrician Nels Byer took a day off, Del assumed that responsibility also.

During World War I, he served overseas with the 127th Battalion, seeing active service in Belgium and France. An older brother Fred was killed in that conflict. He was a charter and life member of the Stouffville Legion, with an affiliation with the Stouffville Veterans' Club before the Legion was formed. He along with Bert Lickorish and Dr. Neil Smith were Legion trustees for years and active participants in the building of the present Legion Hall. Only once did Del Jennings miss a Remembrance Day parade and that was due to a stay in hospital.

A Legion service at the O'Neill Funeral Chapel, Thursday evening, was largely attended.

Del Jennings was a member of the Stouffville Fire Department 35 years and Village Fire Chief, 21 years. He was succeeded by the late Bill Malloy.

He was a trustee at the Stouffville United Church and a faithful member of the congregation; a member of the Stouffville Lawn Bowling Club, the Silver Jubilee Club and the Friendship Club. He maintained an active interest in all aspects of town life and in recent weeks had been a keen observer of the re-channelization project.

He was a skilled craftsman with many pieces of furniture in local homes indicating his handiwork.

On Aug. 30, Mr. and Mrs. Jennings celebrated their Diamond Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. Jennings suffered only a brief illness. He was admitted to hospital, Sept. 30 and passed away Oct. 3.

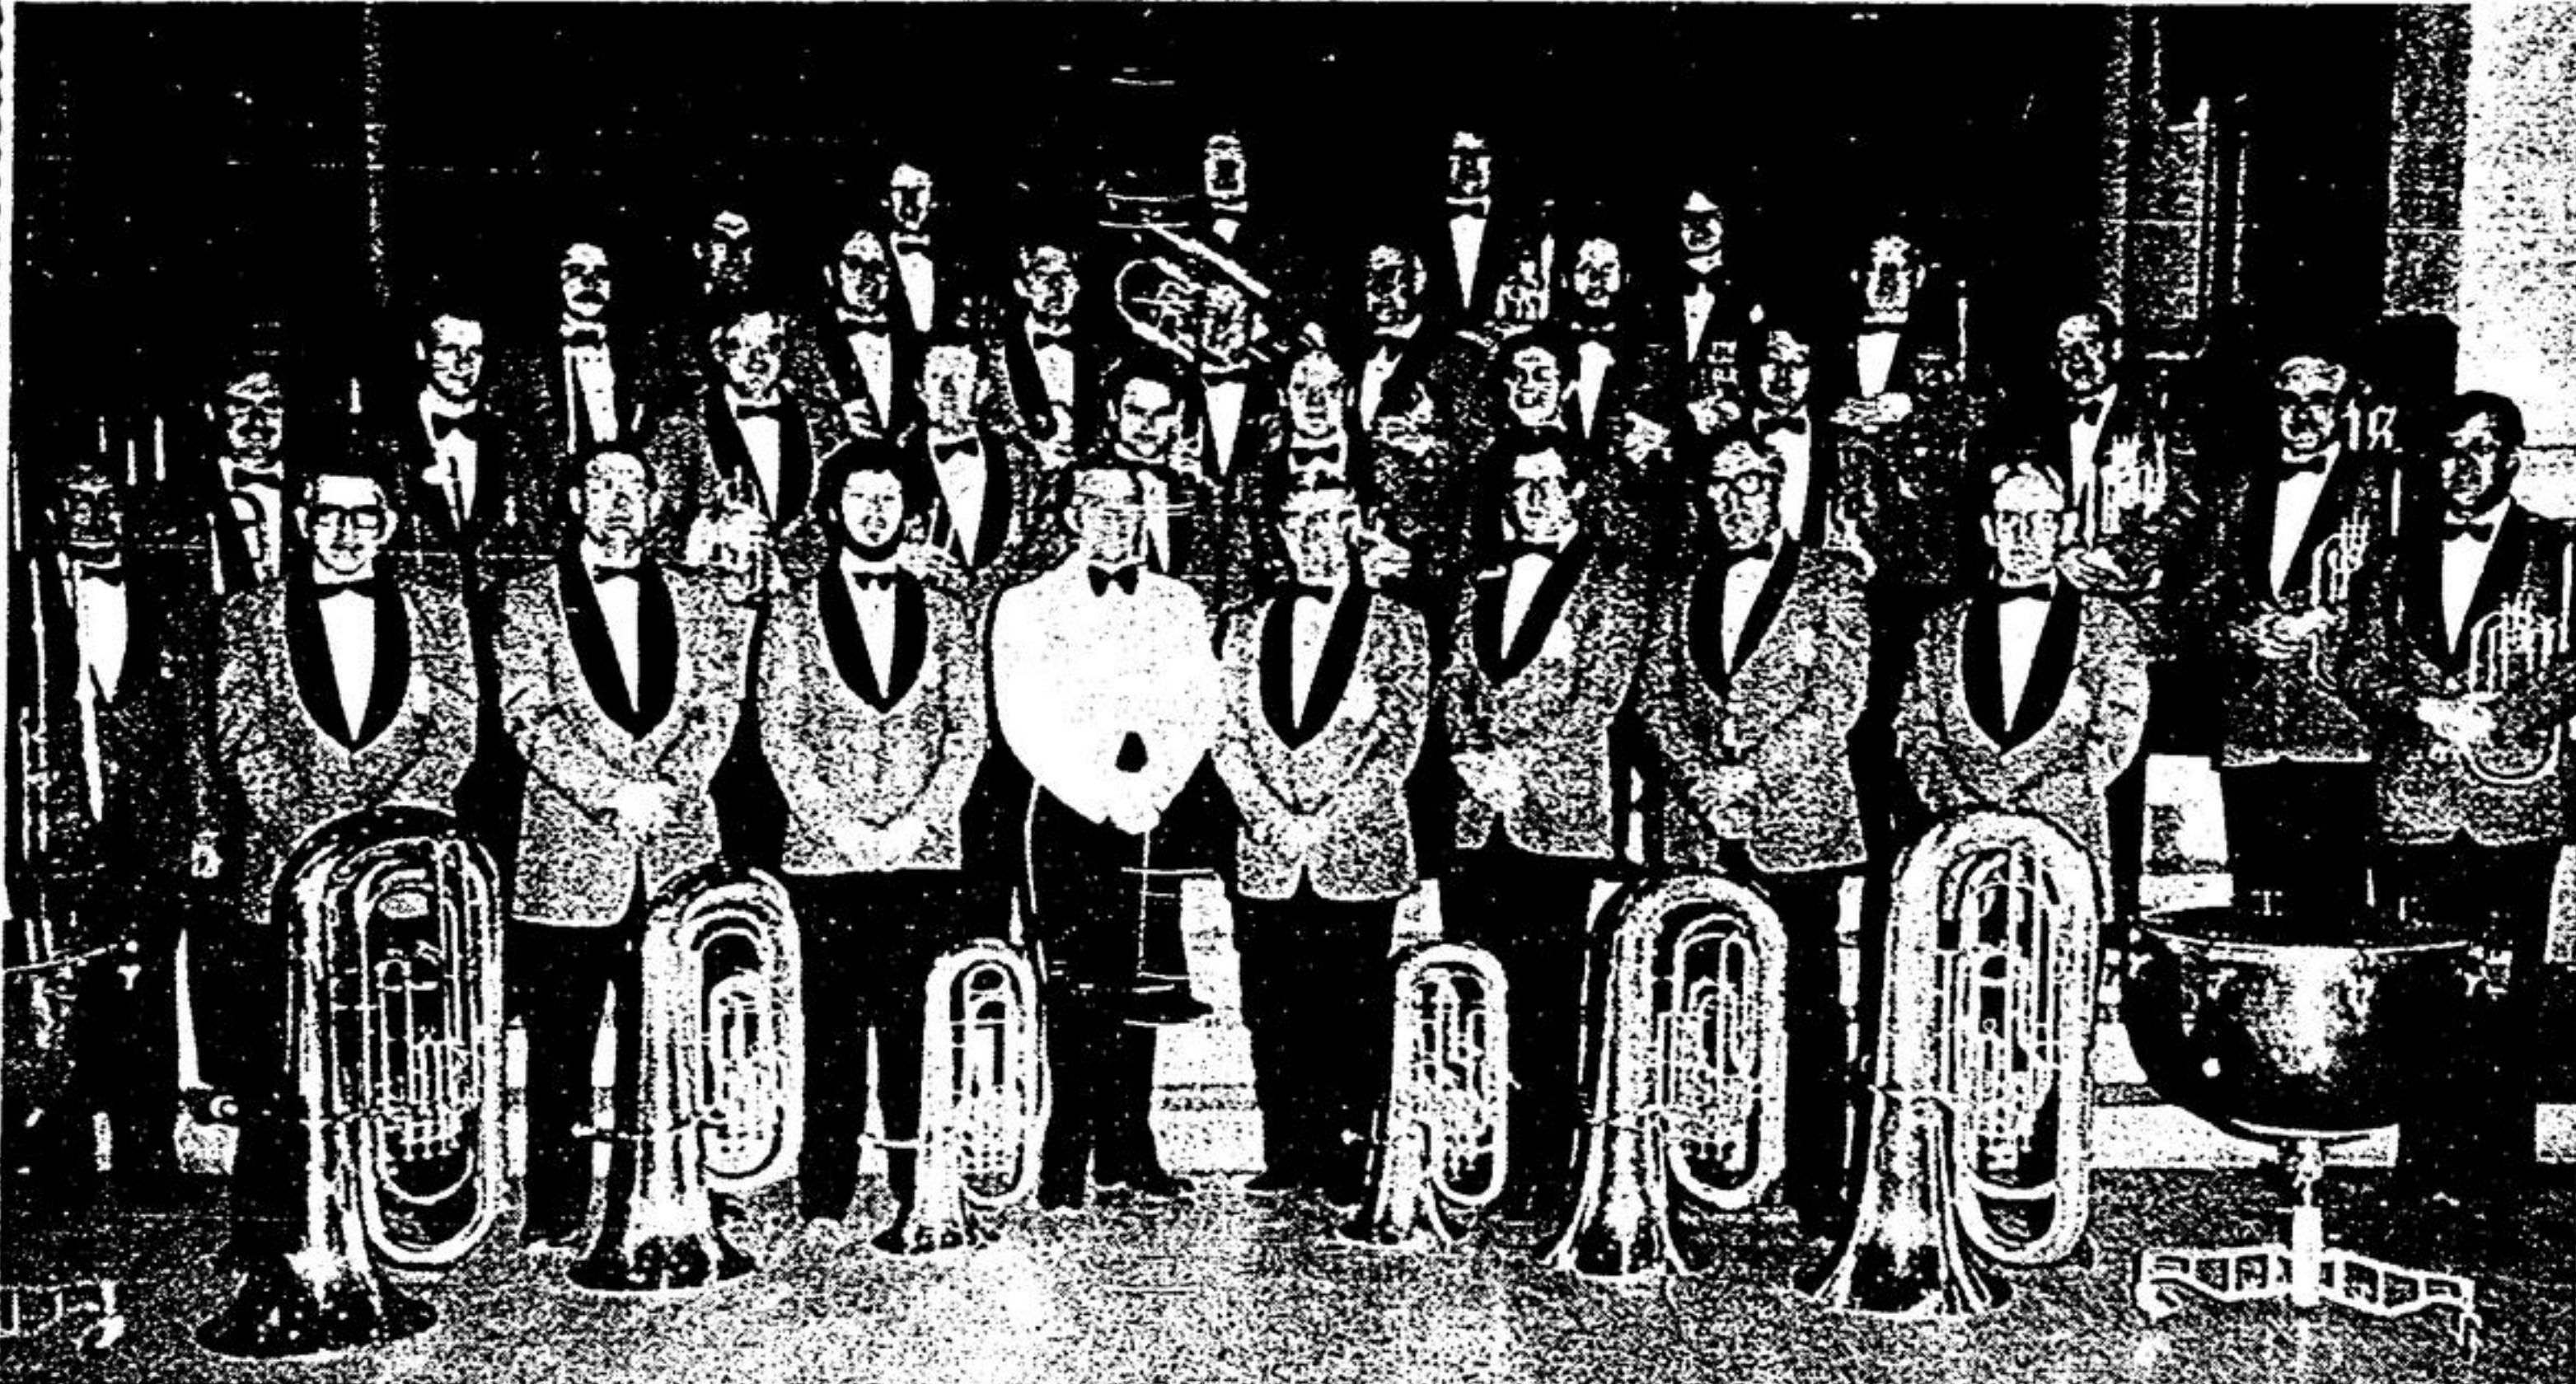

He is survived by his wife, the former Vira Buckler; two daughters, Aurelia (Mrs. Walter Smith), Stouffville and Margaret (Mrs. Deb. Cooper), Newmarket; two sons, Ken of Coldwater and Lloyd in Stouffville; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Rev. Jim Carder conducted the public funeral service, Friday with interment, Stouffville Cemetery. The pall bearers were Jacob Smith, Fred Castle, Ivan Goudie and three grandchildren, Jeff Cooper, Greg Cooper and Mark Jennings.

United Church

Anniversary

Silver Band at service

On Sunday, Oct. 28, two special services are planned at the Stouffville United Church. The occasion is the congregation's anniversary. At 7 p.m., the famed Silver Band from Metropolitan United Church will present a two-hour concert. It marks the first time the 35-member group has visited Stouffville. Prior to coming here, they'll be in Midland and later, travel to Lindsay. At the 11 a.m. worship, Jessie McLeod, Deputy-Secretary of the Division of Missions, will be the guest speaker, with music by the church choir under the direction of Mr. Al Gent.

Late Charles Hodgson

A farmer all his life

ALTONA — Following an illness of about one year, Charles Hodgson, a lifelong area resident, was laid to rest following service, Oct. 2, in the O'Neill Funeral Chapel, Stouffville. Rev. Small of the Memorial Christian Church was in charge with interment Stouffville Cemetery.

'Charlie', as he was known to a wide circle of friends, was born just east of Stouffville in Uxbridge Twp., the son of James Leslie and Matilda Hodgson. While still in his teen years, his parents moved to Altona where he continued to carry on the farm there.

Mr. Hodgson enjoyed the company of neighbors and liked getting together with these folks on a regular basis at Elson's Garage. The group will not seem the same since he's gone. He was an enthusiastic hockey fan, both of teams here in Stouffville and the Toronto Maple Leafs. He seldom missed a Saturday night game on T.V.

Despite a lengthy illness, he maintained a hope that some day he'd be well again. He took treatments regularly at Scarborough Centenary Hospital.

Mr. Hodgson passed away at home, Sept. 29. Besides his wife, the former Albena Lotton, he is survived by one daughter, Jean (Mrs. Ernie Smith) of Gormley; a son, Harold, Loretta Crescent South, Stouffville and four grandchildren, Charlene Hermiz and Blair Smith; Christine and Patti Hodgson.

Pall bearers were Murray Stewart, Millard Reesor, Joe Nighswander, Mansell Elson, Frank Budge and Ernie Carruthers. Honorary pall bearers were Charlie Kerswill, Ken Wagg and Vic Little.
