

Schools mark 'Year of the Child'

The International Year of the Child was celebrated last week at public and separate schools across York Region. Special programs were presented to mark the occasion. At Orchard Park School, Stouffville, dancer Menaka Thakkar (left), a native of Bombay, India, instructed the children on language through movement. Here, she portrays a bird with the help of seven year old Dina Emery, a pupil in Grade 2. At Summitview School (right), in Stouffville, the Grade 7 portable looked much like a classroom in native Mexico. Here, eleven year old

Meredith McDonald of Thicketwood Boulevard samples a taco provided by Melinda Lehman of Vanzant Court. Jim Thomas

Reader shocked

Dear Sir: I am writing in response to an article I read in the Oct. 25 Tribune that upset me terribly. It was under the heading "Two moose-one shot". I feel I speak for many people when I express my shock and disgust at the paper's portrayal of this barbaric incident. It doesn't take any courage or skill for someone to take a gun and destroy wildlife, especially at such poor odds. It certainly isn't something to be admired. How anyone can derive pleasure out of killing helpless creatures, let alone a baby, leaves me numb. I feel the heading on the story should have read: "Two moose-no thought".

Leslie Brangers, R.R.2, Markham. Editor's Note: This newspaper doesn't condone the slaughter of wildlife either. If we had our way, there'd be no "in season" for the killing of anything. In this case, two moose were struck with a single shot, a rarity as we understand it.

depository for government documents and it's fairly bristling with information from every ministry. Much of the material offers very practical advice. The Ontario Ministry of Agriculture covers everything in its field, so to speak, from the care of houseplants, gardening, homesteading through to professional farming. The Ministry of Health provides pamphlets on concerns such as nutrition and drug abuse; Consumer Affairs issues an arsenal of tips for the protection of naive shoppers and, most pertinent at the moment is the material from the Ministry of Energy on heat conservation and home insulation. On a higher elevation than these down-to-earth documents in our verticle files, are the various Acts of Parliament, Bills, Reports and Commissions which are kept in the reference area along with the all-important Whitchurch-Stouffville Official Plans, By-Laws and area planning studies. Here, too, you'll find statistics on practically everything. In its convoluted burrowings, Statistics Canada has even turned up the statistic that it spends $116,000,000 a year on statistics, and the disturbing disclosure (for libraries anyway) that 57 per cent of the Canadian population doesn't read books.
