

CHURCHES

Ecumenical service held at Markham

Rev. Paul Martin (right) greets Rev. Stuart Frayne, Director of continuing education, Toronto Schools of Theology, at the Palm Sunday ecumenical services held at St. Andrew's United Church, Markham, March 30.

Services at St. James

Celebrate Easter

The highlight of any year in the Church is Easter, the great celebration of Christianity. St. James Presbyterian Church in Stouffville is planning many special services to celebrate Easter this year.

Good Friday will be observed with many services in the area; three churches, St. James, Stouffville United and Christ Church Anglican are joining together at 10:30 a.m. in the United Church for Good Friday worship. For those who would like to greet Easter morning with worship and celebration, we are planning an Easter Sunrise Service at the Park beginning at 7 a.m. Sunrise services are becoming traditions in many communities, and we would encourage all Stouffville residents to greet Easter day by joining in this special service. Meet at the Pavilion if the weather turns bad, the service will be held at St. James Church.

Easter Sunday Communion will be celebrated at St. James on Easter Sunday at 10 a.m. A special invitation service of the whole year is extended to all; we would especially encourage anyone who has been thinking about starting at church, or getting back to church to come on Easter Sunday. It is the most joyous service of the whole year.

Music night

STOUFFVILLE — An evening of sacred Easter music will be held at Stouffville Baptist Church, April 7, at 7:30 p.m.

Jesse Pike, song leader, and other local talent will provide vocal and instrumental selections.

Sunrise service

MARKHAM — There will be an Easter Sunrise service at Wideman Mennonite Church, beginning at 5:30 a.m. Everyone is invited to attend a fellowship breakfast later in the morning.

Good Friday services

STOUFFVILLE — Annual Good Friday services will be held April 4, (tomorrow) at Memorial Christian Church.

Guest speaker will be Rev. Leslie Tarr, professor, writer, and editor.

Music will be provided by the Church Choir, and an offering will be received. The service begins at 11 a.m.

An evening of bowling and fellowship was enjoyed recently by the Adult Athletic group.

Palm Sunday scripture reading was led by Karen Wood, and was followed by a medley of Easter music by the choir. Instrumental accompaniment was given by Mary and Evelyn Wagg.

The Choir joined residents at Parkview Home for the evening service, where their many selections were greatly appreciated.

After several days in Scarborough, Centenary Hospital recovering from appendicitis, Michael Margeson is attending church again. His father, Bob, however, has been recently injured at work and has had to have his right index finger in a splint.

Evening service Guests

STOUFFVILLE — Church, beginning at 7 p.m.

Sunday evening Easter services will be held April 6, at Memorial Christian Church, beginning at 7 p.m.

Ron and Marty Barkey, of Wycliffe Bible Translators will be special guests.

Easter breakfast

STOUFFVILLE — Special Easter breakfast will be held at Success Steak House, April 6 for the congregation of the Stouffville Pentecostal Church.

Serving begins at 8 a.m. and cost is $2.50. Dave Kirby will be guest musician.

Communion will be observed at 10:30 a.m., and water baptismal service will be held at 6 p.m.
