By JIM THOMAS -Has success spoiled Kerrie Gibson?

A graduate of Brankson Hall, one of Toronto's most distinguished private schools; formerly of Rosedale, one of the city's most exclusive neighborhoods: a beautiful home on twenty-five acres in the country; the owner of a lovely show horse called "Weekender"; and private instructions by Canada's foremost equestrian, Tom Gayford-Kerrie has every reason to be walking (or riding) on Cloud Nine. But quite the contrary. Despite the opportunities and accomplishments, this pretty 18 year old is very much "down to earth" - modest, if anything.

She's our "Girl Next Door"

Her father's association with country life and the family's love of horses, prompted Kerrie's parents to purchase their present property on the Bloomington Road. Kerrie's not sorry. neither is her sister Mindy, 17 nor her brother Jorin, twelve. However, Kerrie doesn't dislike the city either, in fact she's looking forward to enrolling in a fashion design course in New York, maybe next year, maybe next.

Branksom Hall, what's it like?

There's a 'uniform' dress code and the discipline is strict, Kerrie says. Athletic competition is keen with Brankson winning more than its share of championships. Participation is couraged, both at the elementary and secondary level. Kerrie studied there from Grade 4. Smoking is 'strictly
