EATON'S CONSCIOUS OF ENERGY TODAY

Energy is an issue around the globe impacting nations and governments. But if the energy issue has caused huge change it has also been the pivot for smaller, quieter changes that may, ultimately, be of more lasting value.

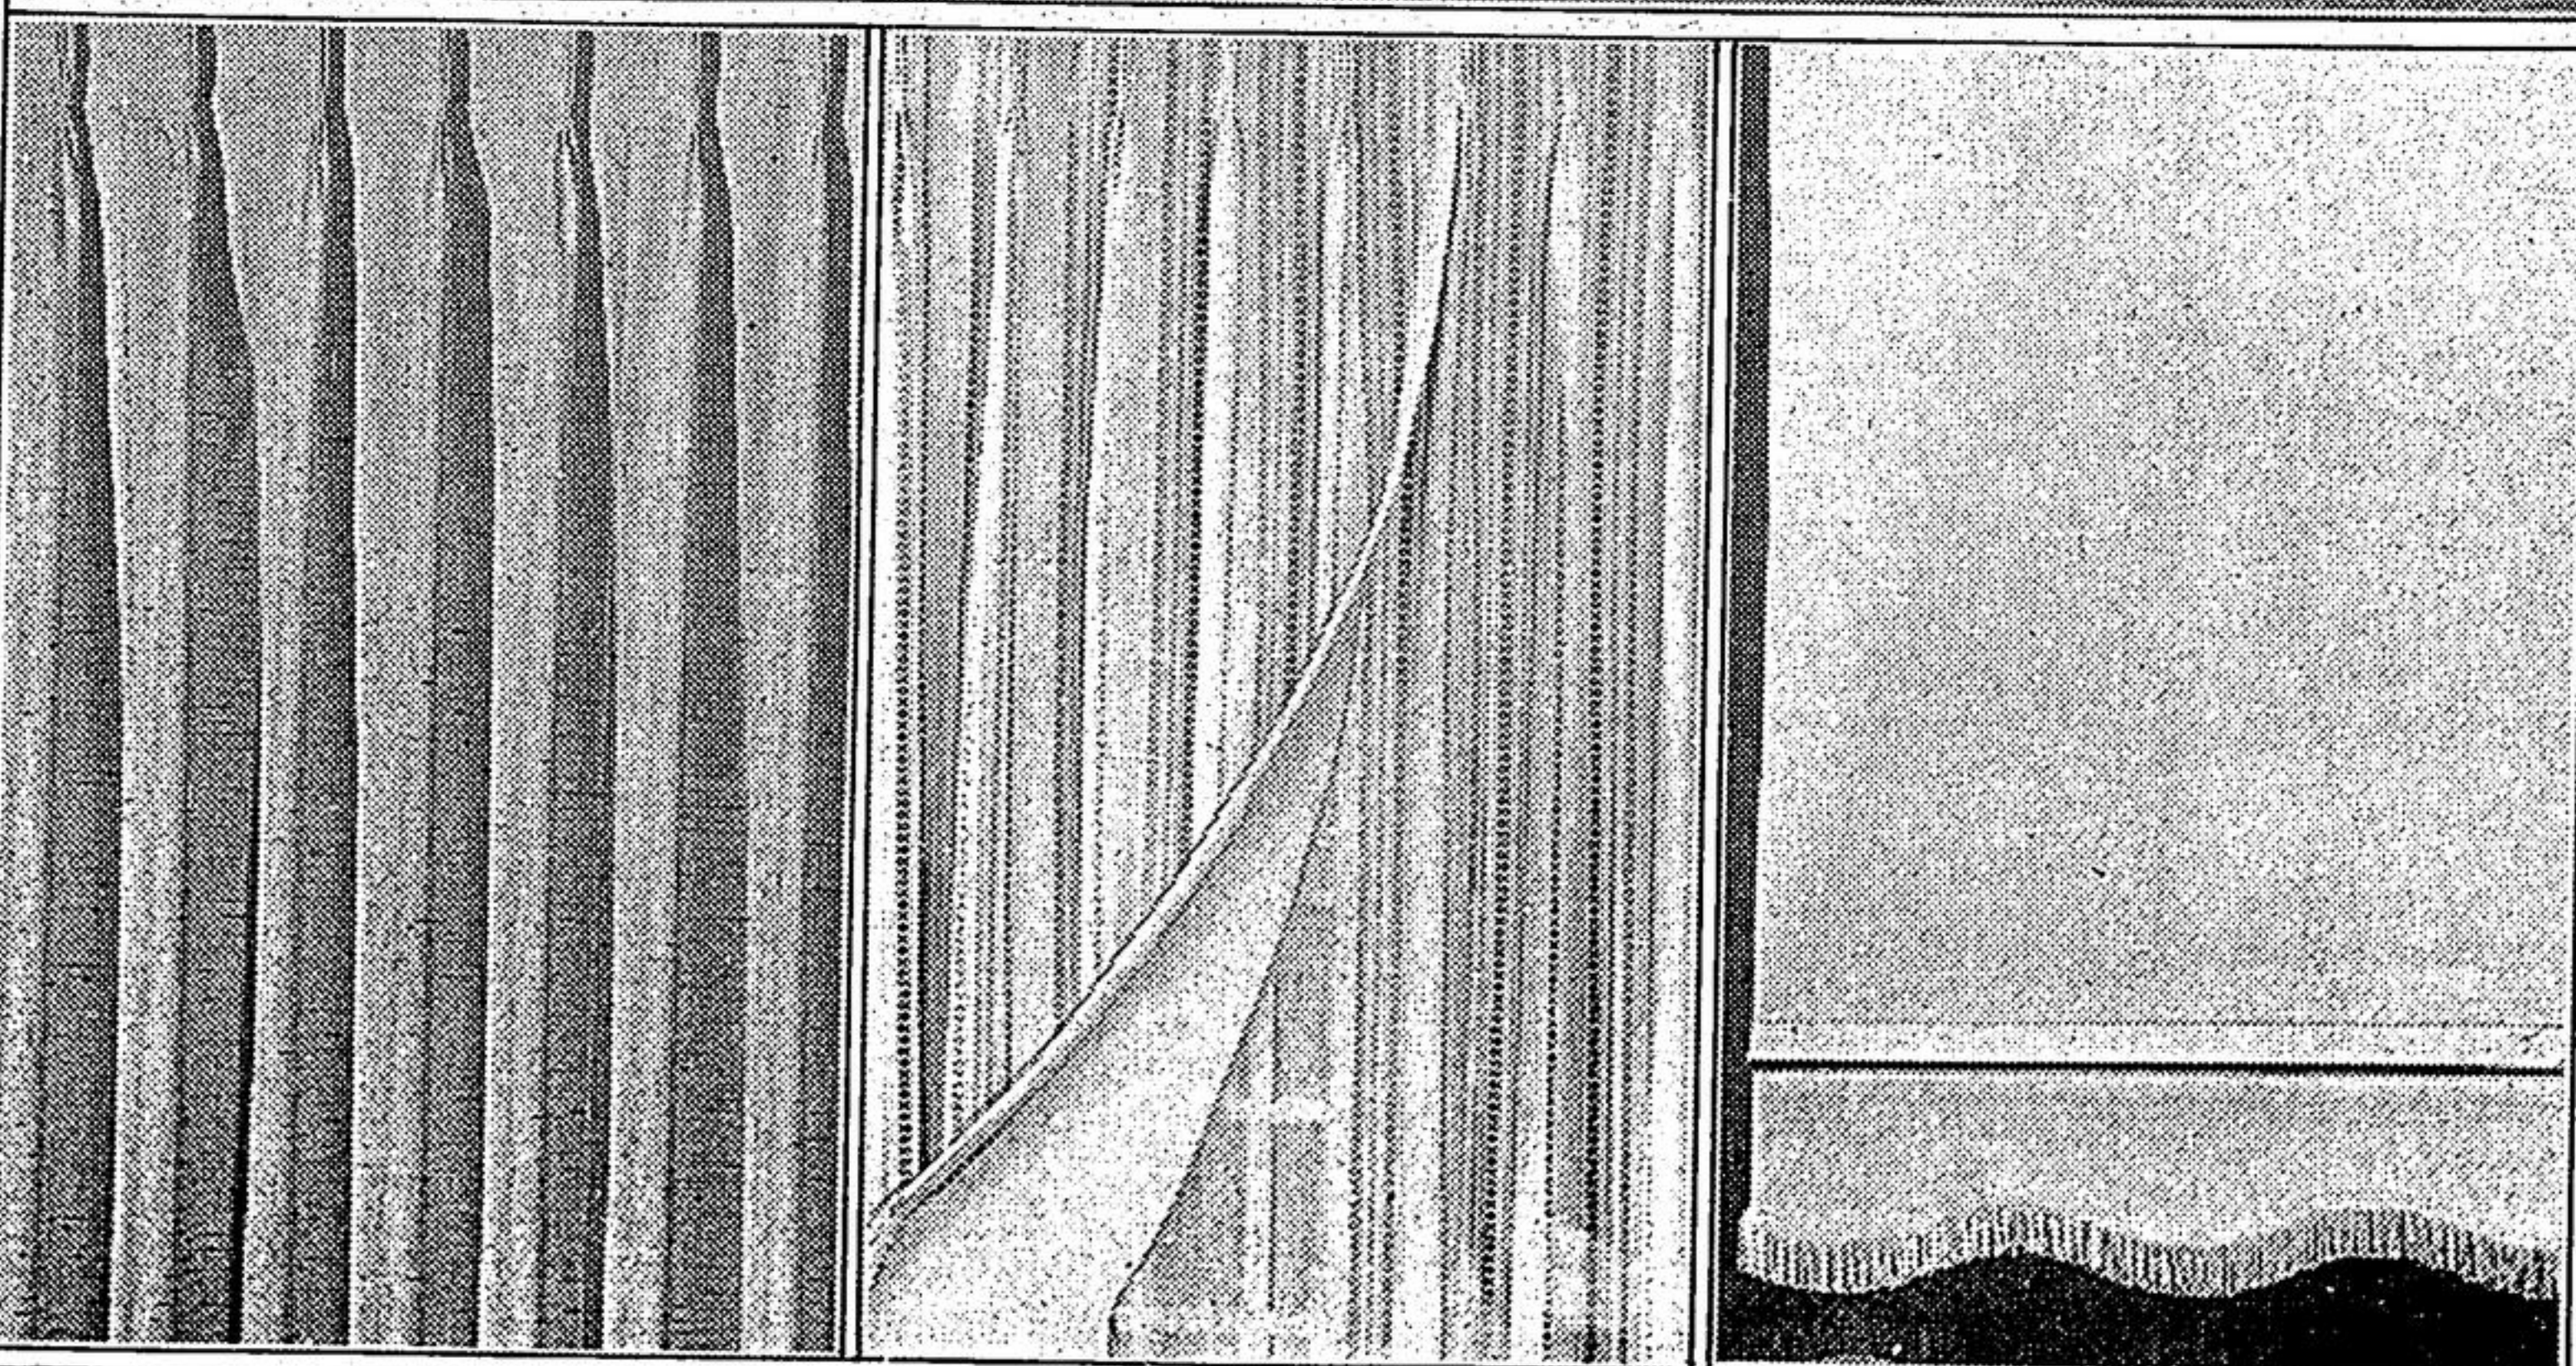

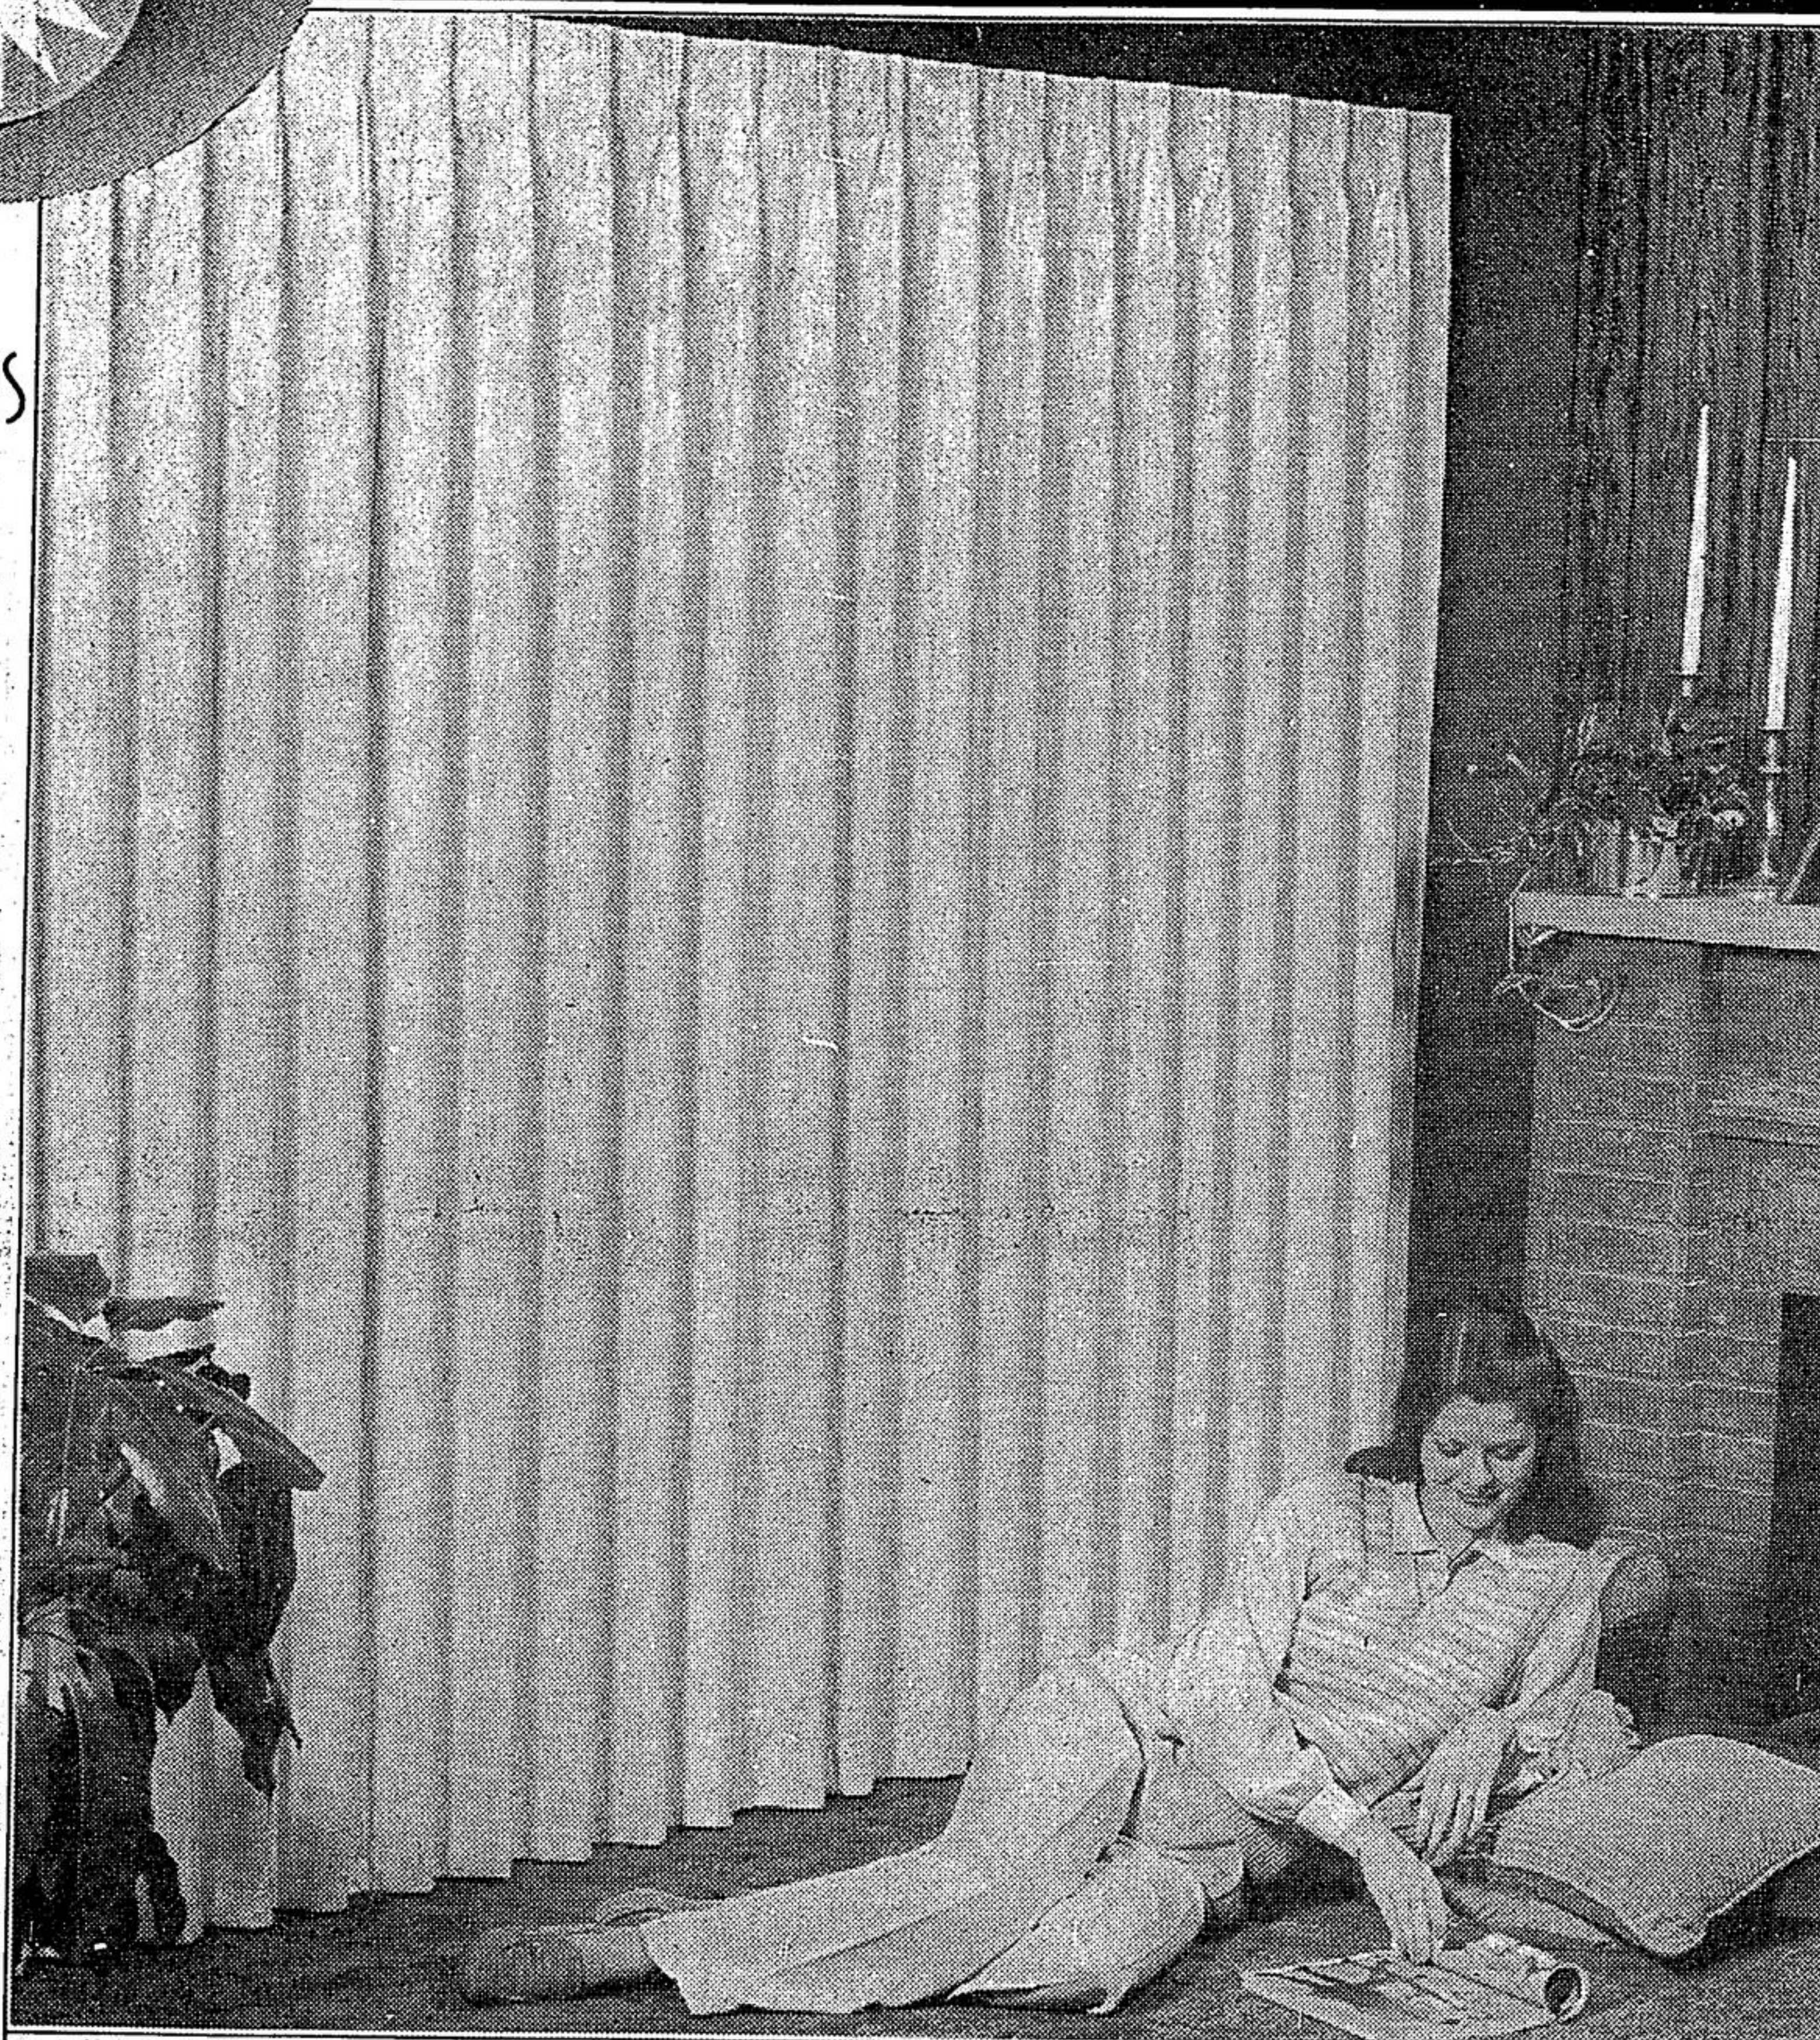

For the past few years energy-conscious designers and manufacturers have been bringing out an ever-increasing number of products that either use less energy themselves or accommodate energy savings from other sources.

We think you should know about these products because while they may not be earth-shaking, they are very important. So to bring them to your attention, we have created our "Eaton's Conscious of Energy Today" programme. Look for the symbol in all our stores. You'll find it on all products that have been proven to be energy efficient.

DID YOU KNOW?

Giving your windows the layered look helps keep out the cold! The more layers, the greater the trapped air insulation. Consider a window shade, sheer under-drapes or both, along with thermal-lined drapes. They can make a big difference to your heating bills.

Eaton's welcomes you to the Burlington House warming with 3 exclusive energy-efficient drapery styles.

So luxurious, yet practical too! All are backed with a suede-like flocked acrylic — an excellent thermal barrier (insulates against cold, reflects heat). And as they are permanent press you can machine wash and dry, or dry clean them. Order now and save!
