

Taxi permits

STOUFFVILLE — Town Council continues to be flooded with applications for taxi licenses, with no assurance, however, the cabs will make much more than token appearances in Town.

As a result, Council put another application on hold, last week, even though Mayor Eldred King first moved it be approved.

"I think we've been through enough applications; it's fruitless — a waste of time for all," Councillor Tom Wood said, after Mohammed Mustafa, of Markham, requested a permit.

Upon questioning, Mustafa revealed he didn't own a cab but would buy one if granted a license. He said, also, he would locate an office in Stouffville "in the future."

At present, Council is considering six similar requests.

"How much time would you operate here?" asked Councillor Will Morley.

"Ten hours," said Mustafa. He said he would work from his home.

"Can you operate from Markham now?" asked Councillor Charles Warden.

Mustafa said he could. When asked by Warden if there would be enough business here, he said he would "have to work to establish a business."

Mayor King moved the issuance of a license, subject to proof of ownership in your name... and to all other questions in the town licensing by-law.

Said Councillor Bill Kamps: "I don't know how Mr. Mustafa moved ahead of the others. I think he should be considered along with the earlier applicants."

Council agreed to defer Mustafa's request.

"Don't go out and buy a car until you hear from us," Mayor King advised.

A step closer

STOUFFVILLE — A proposed 22-lot subdivision by Wade Construction at Island Lake, moved a little closer to reality last week.

Council gave draft approval, subject to the routine conditions, to the development, which was first proposed in 1976.

"This is something the applicant has been waiting for," said Mayor Eldred King, "we shouldn't hold him up."

Councillor Jim Sanders then asked that the conditions be read out for the edification of Council.

After Councillor Bill Kamps had waded through most of them, Councillor Will Morley protested: "We've wasted quite a lot of time reading something that's standard," he said.

The project will now go before York Regional Council for imposition of its own draft conditions, and then come back to Council for final preparation and approval.

Germ-free

STOUFFVILLE — Mayor Eldred King expressed mild dissatisfaction with the rules last week, during a request to Council from Ballantyne Lions Club.

"What we need is an uprising to overcome some of these regulations," said the mayor, as Council measured the virtues of a "stainless steel" vehicle against, presumably equally stainless workers.

The club had asked Council for permission to operate its truck, with a built-in snack bar, at various fund-raising occasions throughout the area. However, health regulations require food-handlers have a certificate attesting to their good health.

"It's not the truck we have to worry about, but the people inside," said Councillor Bill Kamps. On a motion by Councillor Will Morley, it was agreed a license be granted with proof of a certificate.
