

Annual concert a hit

Five year old Ken Grinnell, a kindergarten student at Stouffville's Summitview School, played the part of a shepherd in a musical drama entitled "If We Could Go To Bethlehem". The concert that attracted standing-room-only audiences for two performances, was held Dec. 15 and 16.

STOUFFVILLE — Remember the old-fashioned Christmas concerts in the little red-brick schoolhouse?

Those that do must have felt right at home. Those that don't, could visualize what it was like.

The event, held two evenings last week, was Summitview School's annual Christmas program. Playing to a standing-room audience both nights, it resembled in many ways the concerts of yesteryears. And the people loved it; so much, many came back a second time.

While the staged talent was to be expected (Summitview's students and staff are blessed with it), it was the unexpected that caught the fancy of the crowd.

Like the little lad that missed a step and fell down between the piano and the platform; the curtains that refused to close and the boy that suddenly contracted a nosebleed. These incidents tended to add a homespun ingredient to the show.

Every class played a part with their respective room teachers in charge of direction. Chief announcer was Sherri Agnew, Grade 7. The pianists were Linda Christensen, Joan Enderwick and Shirley Gilham.

The Junior Choir, resplendent in bright red gowns, was a thing of beauty, both to the eyes and the ears. The students were directed by Principal Lorne Boadway.

Other teachers involved in various class presentations included - Merrill McPhail, Bernie Mumford, Trudy Cadieux, Gwenne Ledger, Anne McKeown, Patty Pluss, Bianca Creek, Joyce Caudle, Linda Christensen, Ted Shepherd, Jim Fletcher, Sheryl Pearson, Beth Stenson, Carole Pridham.

What would you like?

STOUFFVILLE — A few Moms and Dads of Summitview's Afternoon Kindergarten children may be finding surprise gifts under their Christmas trees, Friday morning.

The Tribune talked to kiddies of Anne McKeown's class and asked them: (a) What they wanted most for Christmas and: (2) What they'd like to give their mothers and fathers for Christmas. Replies follow:

Nancy Bent - "My mommy's going to have a baby—she told me, but not in time for Christmas. I'd like to give her a coffee-maker and my dad a set of tools. I'd like a smurf".

Mathew Brabander - "I'd like to get my mom a new pair of slippers. Hers are worn out and she goes around in her socks. I'd like a new watch for my dad. For myself, I'd like a plastic house".

Jason Davis - "My mom likes dresses. I'd like to get her a new one. My dad likes suits. I'd like to get him a new one too. For me, I'd like a dump truck".

Lindsay Haylow -

"I'd like to buy my mom a new wedding ring and my father, a pair of firemen's shoes; for me, a Criss-Cross Crash would be nice".

Michael Henriques - "My dad likes perfume. He puts it on himself and on us too so I'd like to buy him that. For my mom, I'd like a necklace and for myself, Dukes of Hazard dinky toys".

Amy Meredith - "I'd like two dolls, a Tippy-Toes and a Pretty Cut and Grow. For my mom, I'd like to buy a radio, tape recorder and T.V. I'd like to buy a radio for my dad too".

Jennifer Michelle - "For my mom, I'd like a set of chairs and a table and for my dad, a camera. For me, I'd like a Mickey Mouse telephone and a Snoopy toothbrush".

Sian Morrison - "My mom drives an older car so I'd like to buy her a new one. I'd like to get my dad a new office. I'd like an electric car".

Leanna Setchell - "I'd like a Snow Cone Machine. For my mom, I'd like a diamond ring and for my father, I'd like to buy him a hammer".

Amy Szirnov - "My mommy looks pretty in red. I'd like to buy her a new red dress. I hope Santa brings me a Fresh and Fancy Doll".

Jason Parnam - "My dad already has one snowmobile but I'd like to buy him a new Arctic Cat so we can have two. For mom, I'd like a key chain and for myself, a space lego".

Amanda Vilek - "I'd like to buy my dad some after-shave perfume and mom, a new pink jacket. I'd like a perfume-maker".

Out on bail

MARKHAM — Three area men were arrested at a home on the 9th Concession of Markham after a 23 year old woman was allegedly raped and forced to commit indecent acts.

According to police, the victim flagged down a passing cruiser and told the officer her story. An hour later the accused were picked up and held for a bail hearing in Newmarket Provincial Court.

The trio, two aged 20 and one 21, were released on $2,000 bail and other sureties.

Rabid Skunk

A skunk, acting in a strange manner, was shot near the Stouffville-Gormley Road, west of the 7th Concession recently. It was later found to be rabid.
