Suburban slums?

Dear Mr. Thomas:—
Stouffville residents should take a long, hard look at the way they want their town to develop. Do we want it to go the way of so much of Markham and Toronto where tiny lots and high population densities have created suburban slums? Hopefully not.

There is currently an application before the Whitchurch-Stouffville Committee of Adjustment that, we feel, should not be permitted.

As residents of Spring Street, we feel that allowing the applicant (Katharine Sandiford) to erect four semi-detached houses on a lot with only 60 feet of street frontage will seriously detract from the value and character of other homes in the area. No other part of Stouffville has been allowed this kind of density and we feel there is no reason to set this kind of precedent now.

There is, for example, very little room for any parking on Spring Street now, and the addition of four more houses will create an intolerable situation. Snow removal will also be a major problem.

The major concern, of course, is the re-valuation of other homes in the neighbourhood. Although other link houses have been built on the street, all have the appearance of single-family homes and none have been built with anywhere near as little as the three feet of spacing between the proposed new buildings.

We feel there is no justification for trying to squeeze so many houses on such a small lot. We don't want to see Spring Street turned into a high-density suburban slum and we don't feel the Town of Whitchurch-Stouffville should encourage this kind of development.

Sincerely,
Bob Benson
