

"Girl Next Door"

Theatre Arts class Cathy's favorite

By Jim Thomas
STOUFFVILLE
Theatre Arts is a favorite subject at Stouffville High for 17 year old Cathy

Wallace, Albert
Street North. A
main reason is the

fact Mrs Stamatou
is her teacher. "She helps and encour-
ages me," says
Cathy.

She's our "Girl
Next Door".
Formerly of Toronto, Cathy
came to Stouffville
with her parents,
brothers and sisters, ten years ago.
She enjoys Stouffville's
small-town atmosphere,
she says.

This pleasant
teenager with the
sparkling smile,
doesn't hide the fact that the Missionary Church means a great deal, particularly
her association with the Youth Group there.
She looks on Rev. Jim Clubine, the congregation's pastor as "a favorite person".

A student in Grade 12, she served as a cheer-
leader in '81-82 and assisted in the Variety Show. She hopes to do the same in '82-83.

Cathy's a busy
girl. In addition to her involvement in
school and church,
she works part-time
at Canadian Tire.
She voices high
praise of the manager
there, Grant Larmer.

She was a participant in the Town's
Canada Day
Pageant, July 1.

Cathy has a number of family relatives in Scotland.
She enjoyed a vacation there ten years ago. Other hoped-for trips on her
travel itinerary include Australia and Egypt.

Seventeen-year-old Cathy Wallace, Albert Street North, is a Grade 12 student at Stouffville High. She's a member of the Youth Group at the Missionary Church and a part-time cashier at Canadian Tire.

'Impressive'

STOUFFVILLE — Comments like "it's beautiful" and "a marvellous improvement" were heard throughout the Stouffville I.G.A. last weekend as shoppers "poured into" the remodelled supermarket.

The main attraction was the store's new meat display counters, measuring 52 linear feet. The units maintain a set temperature level with no "hot spots" as can occur with outdated models.

owner Jack Chambers told The Tribune. A roof condenser, comprising two large fans, has also been installed. This will permit future expansion, Mr. Chambers explained.

The I.G.A. was temporarily closed, to give workers time to complete the installation. Chambers praised his staff, calling them "the greatest group in the world". Some of them, he said, worked almost round-the-clock, getting the store in readiness for reopening. He described them as "a family", adding "that's what I.G.A. is all about".

The new refrigeration units will provide a greater sales volume through a wider variety. Jack Chambers pointed to one problem, however, a parking lot packed with cars. "It's a nice problem," he agreed. For a first time, he said, shoppers were utilizing the parking area near the Library and walking to the store.
