

Grads are challenged

STOUFFVILLE — The need to care and be cared for. This was the theme of a stirring address to the Graduates of '82, delivered by Physical Education Instructor Jim Rehill at Stouffville Dist. Secondary School Commencement Exercises, Friday night.

Praised as one of the finest addresses heard from a platform at S.D.S.S. in years, Mr. Rehill spoke of the need to become a caring person and the joy and happiness that can radiate from it. Happiness, he said, begins with caring.

However, a sad commentary on society today, he said, is the fact happiness is not all that common. In fact, happiness is rare. "We are all destined to become frustrated in certain areas of life and your success and happiness will depend on the adjustments you learn to make," he said, speaking directly to the graduates.

"Remember," he said, "the most important thing about your work is to be happy doing it."

Happiness, he said, comes from caring, and if you care enough, life has meaning.

The speaker urged the Class of '82 to adopt a positive attitude towards life. "The business of living is a celebration of being alive. You can't appreciate light if you've never known darkness; you can't appreciate happiness if you've never known sorrow and you don't
