Sincere thanks

Dear Editor: I would like to take this opportunity to thank Tim, Bruce, and a very special group that worked so hard during my election campaign. The excitement built to election day, and then carried right through to the recount.

I commend Pat Muir and the D.R.O.'s for their fine work. To Jim and Lovanna I express my warmest congratulations.

Let's pull together and give full support to our new council.

Once again, a special thank you to the people who worked with me.

Sincerely,
Ged Stonehouse.

YOUTH TALK By Pastor Dan

You don't obtain experience in the controlled environment of the classroom; you obtain it in the real world where the rubber meets the road. One man looked and thought he saw light at the end of the tunnel, but it was a freight train that ran him down. That's how it seems sometimes, but that's how the Lord helps us overcome problems that could run us down. God's way is not out; but through. We plead: "Lord, get me out of this problem". But God promises to remain with us through the problem. Why don't you become an overcomer; learn to live through your problems. How? By being a child of His, grounded in the Word. In it, there is strengthening power. It can be yours.
