Reside in Scarborough Couple wed at college

Elaine Wideman, daughter of Mr and Mrs Lloyd R. Wideman of Stouffville and Richard Kinsman, son of Mr and Mrs Donald Kinsman of Woodstock, were united in marriage August 21, 1982. The ceremony took place at Emmanuel Bible College Chapel, Kitchener with Rev. Thomas Dow officiating.

The matron of honor was Judy Oshera, friend of the bride. The bridesmaids were Sherill Tustin, cousin of the bride and Sharon Ward, a friend of the bride. Helena Wideman, niece of the bride was the flower girl. The best man was Scott Strople, a friend of the groom. Glenn Wideman, brother of the bride and Calvin Knights, friend of the groom, were the ushers.

The reception was held at Edgewood Hall on the college campus. Glenn Wideman was master of ceremonies for the occasion. Following a honeymoon in the New England States, the happy couple are residing in Scarborough.

Right result in appeal

(An editorial from The Milton Champion)

What activities are considered acceptable for the attention of a religious charity?

A dispute over that question between Renaissance Canada and the federal Ministry of Revenue, was resolved recently by the Federal Court of Appeal—at least partially.

At issue were the efforts Rev. Ken Campbell's Milton-based organization devoted to ensuring the defeat of a homosexual aldermanic candidate in the 1980 municipal elections.

The candidate said the campaign was a question of politics, while Rev. Campbell said he was acting to defend the values of faith and family in local government.

In an arbitrary decision, federal bureaucrats stripped Renaissance of its tax exempt status, but did not give officials of the organization a chance to respond to the charges against them or to present arguments supporting their actions. On that basis alone, the federal judges agreed, the revocation of Renaissance's tax status should be overturned, because there had been a denial of "natural justice" by a government bureaucracy.

Whether one favors the idea of sexual deviants seeking public office or not, it seems clear that organizations like Renaissance have a legitimate role to play in questions of modern life and government.

There was a time when the majority of society accepted a fairly narrow definition of what was right and wrong; moral and immoral, but those clear, comforting lines have become confused in a process of social change.

Groups who once dared not speak their names, now trumpet their perversions and desires at every opportunity—leaving confusion and despair in their wake.

Organizations such as Renaissance, provide for some anchor in this modern whirlpool—clear definitions, choices and alternatives.

Questions of morality, today, are unfortunately also questions of politics. It seems impossible to separate the two and, for that reason alone, it seems questionable to say a religious organization does not have a role in the political process.

It's unfortunate the court focussed its attention on questions of procedure rather than the merits of the action taken by the government, but the results were right.

Very welcome

Dear Mr Thomas: My clipping service has just delivered me your column of May 26 about your jaunting about the campus here at Wilfrid Laurier University and I read it with a good deal of interest and amusement.

As a high school dropout (who got his degrees much later and at night) I remember, too, how I felt when I first trod the sod of a university campus.

Let me assure you that you are most welcome here. The buildings are open late into the evening and you could even have rented a private typewriter room in the library to save you the task of lugging your machine onto campus.

Let me tell you, wholeheartedly, that you are most welcome on campus. I hope you will return any time the fancy takes you. You could research a hundred column in our library. Or you can take books home on a two-week loan. There is no charge for a card.

In other words, we regard Wilfrid Laurier University as a public institution, as it is, and people are more than welcome here. After all, your taxes and those of your neighbors keep us in business. Tuition pays about 20 per cent of the cost of educating each student, and the rest comes from the ministry of colleges and universities.

Have you ever thought of taking some courses for credit or for interest? Such classes are open to all adults (whether they have graduated from high school or not) and some can be audited for half fee. In that case, you don't write the examinations but you don't get one of the 15 credits you would need for a degree either. In any event, I hope you will come back to campus soon and call in at my office. We could share a cup of coffee and some newspaper reminiscences since I worked for weekly and daily newspapers and for CP before coming here in 1965. If you have time, let's have lunch. There are some nice places close to campus.

I hope Susan passed her exams and enjoyed her days with us. Does she plan to return? One final thought - no one will look at you with surprise just because there is some grey in your hair. We have many students in their 40s and 50s and some even in their 60s (for whom tuition is free). No one will accost you. You may even be taken for a new faculty member.

With sincere best wishes, Richard K. Taylor, Director of Information and Special Events, Wilfrid Laurier University, Waterloo, Ont.

You will stop smoking on February 16th

If you join Smokers now and follow our successful program, Smokers will be a pleasant surprise. No one at Smokers will tell you to throw away your cigarettes, or try to frighten you with talk of cancer, emphysema and heart disease. What we will do is teach you how to stop easily, just as we did ourselves.

What's special about Smokers is that you get to keep on smoking while you learn to quit. And without gaining weight, either!

Sound too good to be true? — Not on your life! It's a fact that thanks to Smokers, hundreds of thousands of people just like you have already learned to put their cigarettes out for good.

So even if you don't believe you can ever quit, it won't hurt to hear what we have to say. Just come to one of the Smokers meetings below. Leave your willpower at home, but bring your cigarettes... by February 16th, you won't need them anymore.

THIS WEEK ONLY! FREE introductory meetings on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday & Friday (Jan. 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 & 14) at 7:30 p.m. Choose the day and location most convenient for you.
