

Generous gift from Progress Club

For a second time, the Whitchurch-Stouffville Progress Club has provided financial assistance to Operation Catch-Up, an educational organization in the Region of York that assists students experiencing problems in certain areas. On Wednesday night, President Don Appleton presented board member Judy Jackson with a cheque for $1,000. The generous gesture followed a club dinner at the Deer Park Inn. —Jim Thomas CLAREMONT — The many friends of Lloyd MacGregor wish him a speedy recovery. Lloyd is a patient in Scarborough Centenary Hospital.

A quick recovery is wished also for Carol Redshaw's mother, Mrs Ashenhurst and for Mrs Earl Rowe, both patients in Uxbridge Cottage Hospital.

Sympathy of the community is extended to Stan and Mary McMullen and family in the passing of Stan's father, Mr Earl McMullen, at Cobourg General Hospital. The service was held Saturday from the O'Neill Funeral Chapel, Stouffville. It was largely attended.

Claremont folk are invited to the 12th annual Sacred Music Night in St. James Presbyterian Church, Stouffville, this Friday evening (April 22) at 8 p.m. Ron McMullen, talented saxophone player, is a participant in the program.

Mrs Doris Norton has returned from her winter home in Florida.

The Legion is holding a dance, Saturday night, with music provided by D.J. Darryl Norton.

Ray Frances and Howie Westfall of Oshawa, visited Saturday with Norrine and Wilmot Hill.

Diane and David Mitchelson of Scarborough, visited Sunday with Aggie and Dave Ferguson.

The community welcomes John and Kelly Carruthers, moving into the apartment vacated by Paul and Judy Carruthers. Paul and Judy are moving to the John Noble house.

Get-well wishes go out to former resident Andy Rodgers, a patient in Ajax-Pickering Hospital.

Mrs Ann Smith and girls of Ajax are staying at the Peddie home while Willard and Marion are holidaying in Florida with the Hxbridge Black Hawk hockey team.

Colorful recital

On Tuesday evening, Stouffville dance instructor Pirko Eager put her protégés through a colorful recital on stage at Stouffville Dist. Secondary School before an appreciative audience. The students' talents plus beautiful costumes made for an exciting show. Two of the participants in the Modern Dance division were Shelley Whittaker, 14, (left), of Glengall Lane, Stouffville and Lori Thompson, 15, of Rupert Avenue, Stouffville.

'They'd kill me'

Dear Editor:
Don't use my name. Only my wife knows I'm writing this. The guys would 'kill' me if they found out.

I play in the Stouffville A.H.L. It's a lot of fun, good exercise and companionship. The trouble is, I know my place on Sunday is in church with my family. Often, I've been selfish; I've had my fun at the rink while they've gone to church alone.

The minister who wrote in last week's paper is right; I know it and so (if they're honest) do a lot of the guys. I hope a change can be arranged for next season.

I don't want the public to get the idea we're a bunch of heathen who couldn't care less about our families and what Sunday represents. I really "felt my neck" playing in the wind-up game. Unfortunately, in not wishing to let the team down, I let my family down, which was worse.

Sincerely,
An A.H.L. Player,
Stouffville

Heritage

WHITEVALE — Two landmark residences in the hamlet of Whitevale, have been designated as property of historic and/or architectural value.

The sites are commonly referred to as the Miller and Christian houses.

Private funds have been expended to restore both structures.

The Council of the Town of Pickering is preparing a bylaw in accordance with the Ontario Heritage Act to preserve these buildings.

Close to people

Dear Editor:
I've never had the opportunity to meet Pickering Regional Councillor Norah Stoner. All I really know about her is what I read from time to time in The Tribune.

What I like about her, is her concern for people and people-related problems. The 9th Concession curve between Claremont and Stouffville is a prime example.

There have been many accidents at this location, some minor, some serious. Mrs Stoner wants to know if the site represents an undue hazard or if it's merely undue care and attention by drivers.

Whatever the result of her enquiry, it's satisfying to me that someone in the political bureaucracy cares enough to ask.

Sincerely,
Hilda Boyer,
R.R. 2, Claremont.
