The Stouffville Legion Ladies' Auxiliary are extremely supportive of every endeavor undertaken by their male counterparts. At the same time, they're never hesitant to embark on projects of their own. On Sunday, five charter Auxiliary members were on hand

Brighter future

STOUFFVILLE — After a rough year, financially, Big Brothers of York, have hit the jackpot.
 A lot of others have hit it with them, too, as the famed organization is now operating the games every Saturday night, at Diamond Lil's Bingo Emporium, on Yonge Street in Richmond Hill.
 "It's been great," says Laurie LeBlanc, of the Big Brothers' organization. "We're now getting back into shape, financially. We're now at the point, where we can start advertising again."
 LeBlanc said the group had been relying on its Bowl-a-Thon before, but "the high rate of inflation hit us, and we've been operating on a shoe-string budget."
 He said they had cut their staff from four to two, but were now hiring again.
 Besides the bingo venture — the group leases the hall, buys the supplies and gets all the profits for that one evening — Big Brothers is holding a dance, June 23, at Thornhill Community Centre, with some other famous brothers — The Good Brothers — not only appearing in person, but donating their services, as well.

 LeBlanc said that, at present, 40 boys are looking-for-Big-Brothers. The staff shortage had made it difficult to handle the requests, but now they were moving along once more.
 "He described the role of a Big Brother, as one who volunteered a few hours each week to provide some companionship and the male image that's missing in the life of fatherless youths.
 It's mostly a chance to relate on a one-to-one basis, he said.
 He said the volunteer usually pays for any costs incurred, but that sometimes, the young ones contributed, too.
 Big Brothers recently held its annual meeting in Newmarket, where a slate of officers was presented to the members. However, voting has not taken place, as yet, LeBlanc said.
 He said, also, that Dave Couch, RR 1, Claremont, was presented with an award, recognizing his 23 years with Big Brothers, and Keith Leach, Booth Dr., Stouffville, received a two-year merit pin.
