

Markham man jailed over theft

A Markham area man has been sentenced to three months in jail following his conviction in Newmarket Provincial Court on a charge of breaking, entering and theft.

Bryan R. Bergmann was charged by York Regional Police last September after he and two other persons broke into the Music Discount Store on McCowan Road in Markham.

Mr. Bergmann who pleaded guilty to the charge, will be serving an eight-month term of probation on his release from jail on the order of Judge H.E. Zimmermann.

The Markham man, according to crown testimony, gained entry to the Music Store by removing an air conditioner. Cash, batteries, and cassettes were removed from the premises.

The court was told that a second store, Markham Electric, was also entered by the culprits.

Writing courses offered in June

Have you ever wanted to become a writer? This June, the Continuing Education Division of Seneca College offers a variety of Saturday workshops especially designed for aspiring writers. These courses will be offered at the King Campus, in King City.

SKILLS FOR WRITERS

Information gathering is basic for writers of both fiction and non-fiction. Topics to be covered include: identification of information sources; library research; interviewing techniques; and proper use of personal observation and experience. Ethics and legalities, copyrights and plagiarism will be discussed.

The courses is offered on June 4 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Registration fee of $30 does not include lunch.

WRITING TRAVEL ARTICLES

Some writing talent and a camera, combined with marketing know-how could help pay for your vacation. Various categories of travel articles and possible markets will be explored. Up-to-the-minute information on what editors are and are not buying will also be discussed.

This course is slated for June 18 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Registration is $30. For further information on these courses call 833-3333.
