Suits for the business woman need not be plain as this camel hair and nylon outfit demonstrates. The blouse is 100 per cent silk. — Sjoerd Witteveen

Pants are definitely in this fall, especially with striking outfits like this two-piece wool co-ordinate with leather belt and silk blouse.

Internationally-known designer Alfred Sung was on hand Friday at Markville Shopping Centre where his designs were featured in a fashion show.

Chic is the theme for fall fashions

Understated chic is the theme for the 1983 autumn line of fashions with dramatic, rich colors and deluxe fabrics, according to Pamela Eves, fashion co-ordinator for Markville Shopping Centre.

Local residents will have an opportunity to view the latest trends when Markville holds its fall shows entitled Fall '83 Fashion Revival. The fashion shows, narrated by Mrs. Eves, will take place Friday, Sept. 23 at 1 and 7 p.m. and Saturday, Sept. 24 at 1 and 3 p.m.

All of the clothing and accessories to be featured are from stores in the mall.

According to Mrs. Eves, designers have reached back into a bygone era of sophisticated cool and classic lines to pull together eye-catching wardrobe ensembles and separates.

She sees the following trends this year:

- Neutral colors such as browns, greys, black and white, injected with vibrant hues including cerise, emerald, electric blue, make a strong statement for today's clean, uncluttered look.

- The body is once again celebrated as fabric and texture unite to emphasize natural movement. The result is visual poetry featuring leather and cashmere; flannel and velvets; knits and jerseys.

- The truly big news of the season is sweaters, sweaters, and more sweaters. From casual separates to glamorous evenings they're textured, embroidered, appliqued, feather or fur-trimmed.

- The daytime dress has made a comeback with coat dresses and chemises dominating the scene.

- Coats and suits are designed for the comfort, taste and needs of the working woman in mind. Quality and innovation is the style here as practical tweeds, mohairs, plaids and solid colors are highlighted with proper accessories.

- Attention to detail is what pulls off the complete look and accessories have stormed the market with a vengeance. Massive, bold and daring jewelry pieces provide the added explanation point to the completion of an outfit. Mixed metals, rhinestones, geometric plastics and large bib necklaces will be found in every wardrobe this season.

- Scarves and belts also add interest to the silhouette designs, and style variations create new dimensions and versatility for any wardrobe whether dressing for evening or sportswear.

- Hats continue to be a going concern and their popularity seems to increase with each season. Autumn will see smaller brims, fur hats and the return of berets, fedoras and evening hats.

- And, the perfect complement to the millinery wardrobe is the resurgence of gloves. They're available in every length, style, texture and color.

- Although skirt lengths are falling, the leg is still in focus. Sheer patterns, colored sheers, novelty tights, ribs and argyles are a major addition for the fashion conscious woman.

- The closed toe and heel pump is destined to be the star of the season. The accent is on basic colors in leather and suede.

- The spike heel is back. Glitter, beading and rhinestone clip-ons are the perfect dress-up for a sleek blacking evening dress or gown.

- And last but not least, comfort and fashion in boots. Watch for sweater knit cuffs, wrap boots, low crushed-down boots, granny boots, speed lacing, grommets and studs.
