BY AUDREY GREEN

UXBRIDGE — Like father like son. In 1952, Keith Morrison was one of the "pony express" helpers who delivered 123 Daily Stars and 80 weekly papers in the Thornhill area with a pony cart and horse named Nancy.

Thirty-one years later, Mr. Morrison's 15-year-old son Brian is following in his foot steps.

Brian, who lives in Uxbridge, is one of the 11 new Tribune home delivery newspaper carriers in the Uxbridge area.

A Grade 9 student at Uxbridge Secondary School, Brian said this will be his second part-time job and the money he earns is going to be used when his family travels to the Bahamas in 1984. Brian worked a summer for Dixie Dee Ice Cream, during which time he raised enough money to go on a three-week exchange program to England.

Brian's dream is to learn how to scuba dive when he goes south on vacation and like father like son, Brian has his hopes set on becoming a fireman in the later future.

The new Tribune delivery service starts in mid-September, but Brian plans on being a little different from dad. He doesn't plan on using a horse and pony cart for his deliveries.

UXBRIDGE — The Uxbridge Fair celebrated its 119th year over the weekend and along with the celebrations there were many prizes and awards for competitors in various categories.

Aside from the regular activities the fair hosted a few new events this year.

The Saturday night Demolition Derby was one of the featured events with both a mens and ladies category.

There were 10 women who competed in the Powder Puff race and the first place winner was Carol Winton, of Prince Albert. Second prize went to Barb Robinson, Oshawa; and Leah Horton, Uxbridge, placed third.

The men's category had a different type of win this year. Gerald Ross, Leaskdale and Bill Trudel, Oshawa, tied for first place so the first and second place prize money was split between them. Third place was Murray Elson, Uxbridge.

Another new event was the Saturday afternoon Kidie's Pedal Tractor Pull which had three different classes: "It was a great success," said Uxbridge Fair Secretary-Treasurer, Marlene Lollard.

The winner of the Red Class (30-50 lbs.) was Jimmy Dawson, Sandford; the Blue Class (51-75 lbs.) was Ian Davidson, Uxbridge; and the Green Class (76-100 lbs.) was Barke Perry, Uxbridge.

Museum hosts history

PICKERING — History buffs get ready. History-In-Action is coming to Pickering Museum Village, located at Highway 7 in Greenwood, on September 17 and 18 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The weekend events will include demonstrations explaining how the pioneers worked years ago with old steam and gas engines, grain threshing, forging, wood splitting, and pioneer crafts.

There will be displays of nineteenth century homes and barns, early farm equipment, and pioneer clothing. Other activities include pony rides, a corn roast, children's games, and more.

Pickering Museum Village is a participant in the Wintario Half Back program. For further information phone 683-8401.

Tag day sale raises money

UXBRIDGE — The Ladies Auxiliary at Uxbridge Cottage Hospital are holding their annual tag day on September 16 and 17 to help raise money for the auxiliary and for future hospital expansion.

Auxiliary President, Kay Bond, said they raised $1,836.75 at last year's tag day. "Each year the response seems to be better."

During the two-day event, members of the auxiliary can be found located on street corners and around plazas with their box of tags. People are asked to donate whatever amount they wish.

The auxiliary's most recent project was donating $50,000, during a three-year period, for the new elevators at the hospital.
