

Local resident owns antique paper

The Tribune is indebted to Ernie Carruthers of Goodwood for loan of Page 1 from a paper dated May 30, 1892. A few of the news items and advertisements follow:

The Tribune at that time was published on Friday mornings. The editors and proprietors were Malloy and Keefer. The subscription rate was $1.25 a year or $1.00 if paid in advance. The village had several solicitors. Two of these were Robert Holman in the Merrens Block on Main Street and Fred W. Hill in the Sanders Block, Main Street.

Two physicians were listed on the page—W.A. Sangster and R. Rowan. The Standard and Savings Bank was offering four per cent interest on deposits of one dollar and over.

It was announced that A.W. Lehman, formerly of Ringwood, had opened a carriage shop in Stouffville at the T.W. Marshall premises.

Sylvester and Dougherty were selling the latest in milk pails, cream pails, skimmers and butter-milk strainers, also Leader churns with glass vents.

J. Bray of "The Palace Furnishing House", south side of Main Street, was advertising ready-made clothing and gents' furnishings.

A Letter to the Editor that was signed simply "A Resident" read: "If the commerce of this place depends on three bar rooms, then God help Stouffville!"

The Stouffville Ministerial Association announced an exchange of pulpits as follows: Congregational Church, Rev. Elder Hainer; Presbyterian Church, Rev.

T. Booker; Baptist Church, Rev. J.W. Stewart; Methodist Church, Rev. J. Stenhouse.

Market Day in Stouffville resulted in the following prices paid: Butter—13 to 15 cents a pound; eggs—nine to ten cents a dozen; onions—$1.50 a bushel; chickens—45 to .75 cents a pair; potatoes—85 cents a bag; apples—50 cents a bushel; cabbage—25 to .40 cents a dozen; cauliflower—five to eight cents each; geese—six to seven cents a pound; ducks—70 cents a pair.

From Gormley it was reported that John Conner has sold his handsome driver to Alfred Brillinger for a nice sum. Mr. Forrester has just finished planting a new hedge fence of two hundred rods and Tobias Wideman had the misfortune to lose a good milch cow last week.

From Cedar Grove it was reported that the ball club had held a meeting in the Post Office and the following officers were elected: President—Thos. Kennedy; Secretary—Treasurer—R.J. Reesor; Captain—W.F. Reesor. Any persons desiring friendly notices will receive prompt attention, the story concluded.
