STOUFFVILLE — Eight out of nine proposed residential lots for the Maples of Ballantrae golf course and estate development have been sold before the Whitchurch-Stouffville Town Council have given approval for land re-zoning.

Michael Wade, R.R. 4, Stouffville, appeared before the Planning Advisory Committee, Tuesday, to present an application for re-zoning the existing land from rural to estate residential. As he spoke to committee members he held eight confirmed sale slips for the proposed lots.

Mr. Wade said the property, located on Lot 13 and 14, Conc. 7, has an abutting piece of land where he wants to add nine residential lots. The expansion would give 31 residential lots in total.

Mr. Wade said the proposed area is on a dead-end street which is surrounded by a ravine and wooded area. He said it was "very scenic" territory which helped to attract prospective buyers and the proposed land would allow for two persons per acre.

Committee members supported the application.

Whitchurch-Stouffville Mayor, Eldred King, places a wreath in front of the cenotaph to pay respect to the men who died during World War I and World War II. The Remembrance Day Service was held Sunday in Stouffville.
