

Their sacrifice remembered

During Sunday's Remembrance Day Service, Aurelia Smith, from the Stouffville Legion Ladies Auxiliary, places poppies at the base of the cenotaph for those servicemen killed in action during World War I and World War II.

Decision shocks reader

Dear Editor:
I was surprised to read, Wednesday, that your editorial knuckles had been rapped by the Ontario Press Council for a personal opinion piece related to an N.D.P. Riding meeting at Uxbridge. I happened to be there that night, not because I'm a Riding member but because I am interested in the cruise missile issue that was being discussed. Like yourself, I was shocked at what was said that night and I agreed with what you wrote. It was not a Communist meeting or a pro-Russian rally, but it was transformed into that because none of us, myself included, had the intestinal fortitude to challenge some of the speaker's remarks.

Sincerely,
Angus Porter,
R.R. 4, Uxbridge.

Hamlet saddened

By Elsie Boland

GOODWOOD — The Goodwood community was saddened, last week, when word was received of the passing of Charlie Symes and Charles (Chuck) Lintner. Both were active in the Senior Citizens organization here. Mr Symes suffered a heart attack following a Seniors' dinner meeting, Nov. 1. He is survived by wife Elva and daughters Barbara and Helen. Mr Lintner lived in Stouffville.

Persons wishing to make donations towards the maintenance of Goodwood Cemetery should contact Mr Harry Woodland, treasurer of the board.

The men's lodge is holding a dance in the Hall this Saturday, (Nov. 12). Tickets ($8.00 per couple) are available from Brian Plewes and Harold Bell.

The Couples Club are holding a dance in the Hall on Sat., Nov. 19.

Two inspiring services were held at Goodwood United Church, Sunday, on the occasion of the congregation's anniversary. Special music was provided by the church choir, Marlene Gribble and daughter and the barbershoppers from Uxbridge. Rev. Clifford Pendlebury brought the message in the morning and Rev. Edith Ann McManiman spoke at night.

Winners at the Seniors' euchre, Nov. 1 were—Bea Norton, Mary Risebrough, Isabelle Home and Lena Ogden. Door prize winners were—Art Parratt, Mary Risebrough, Elva Symes, Esther Archer, Rita Parratt, Elsie Boland, Margaret Eckardt, Millie Eddington, Jim Eddington, George Archer, Joan McElwain, Eva Evans, Charlie Symes and Ken Home. The next Seniors' meeting is Nov. 15.

Sympathy is extended to Rita Parratt and family in the recent passing of her father.

Services enriched

By J.M. Nighswander

Residents of Parkview, along with many other persons living in the 92 Homes for the Aged in Ontario, have the quality of their living enriched by the many services provided by volunteers.

The members of the Board of Directors; the many hundreds of Auxiliary members; the community persons who donate many hours of time for a great variety of services and activities; the family, community, service club and church groups who provide educational and entertainment programs, and the many others who could be mentioned, are among those who serve our older folk in Homes across the Province through voluntary contributions of time, money, energy, love and care.

Parkview Home is especially fortunate to be in a community that graciously supports this ministry to Seniors in many, many ways, including the assistance of volunteers.

The Oct. 25 bazaar, is a case in point. The many persons, too numerous to mention here, who donated craft items, baking as well as their time and energy, helped make the sale a success.

To all of these people, we express our heartfelt gratitude and sincere thanks.

The proceeds will be used as a direct benefit to our Residents and for the kinds of things that stringent budgeting may not allow.

We are especially grateful to the Pastors of the community churches who, on a continuing basis, so generously take charge of the 6 p.m. Sunday evening service, to which everyone is welcome.

A luncheon, to honor these pastors, was held at Parkview, Nov. 9.

Again, thanks to everyone who is or has been providing voluntary time to our Residents. May God reward you with joy and peace!
