On Wednesday afternoon, members of the 2nd and 3rd Brownie Packs, called at the Stouffville I.G.A. and purchased cans of food for delivery to Christ Church (Anglican) on Sunset Boulevard. Then, this week, the gifts were distributed among the needy and destitute of downtown Toronto. One of the participants in the project was seven-year-old Heather Baker of North Street, Stouffville.

Good deed day

STOUFFVILLE — Fifty members of the 2nd and 3rd Brownie Packs, under the leadership of Phyllis Wells and Kathy Brillinger, did their good deeds, Wednesday.

They visited the Stouffville I.G.A. and purchased one item each for the needy of downtown Toronto.

Mrs. Brillinger deposited the canned goods in a giant container at Christ Church Anglican, Sunday. Delivery to the city was made Monday.

"It just kind of popped into my head," Mrs. Brillinger said of the idea. The suggestion was enthusiastically accepted by the girls who range in age from six to nine years.

"By doing it themselves, the girls better appreciated the significance of the project," she said.

"BULGING AT THE SEAMS"
 Rev. Craig Pitts of the Stouffville Pentecostal Church reports the sanctuary and other facilities "bulging at the seams". Late Elmer Reesor Respected by all

It was back in 1976 that Elmer Reesor, Conc. 5, R.R. 1, Unionville, was stricken with a rare disease known as Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis from which there is no known cure.

Although faced with the prospect of deteriorating health that would ultimately place him in a wheelchair, Mr. Reesor refused to give in, but rather chose to live out his remaining years to the full. In doing so, he gained the respect of the entire community, a respect that was acknowledged Wednesday at the funeral service in Wideman Mennonite Church. He was 54.

Elmer Carl Reesor was born March 10, 1929, on the Fifth Line, a half-mile south of the Stouffville Road. He was one of ten in the family of Carl and Annie Reesor.

As a boy, he attended S.S. No. 12, Public School, and later started up a poultry business on the "home" farm, farther south.

For a time, he worked for Barney Larkin at the local J.I. Case dealership. While there, he made a host of friends, associations he enjoyed to the full.

Elmer Reesor involved himself in all the good things of life including Hagerman

Mennonite Church where he served as an elder and Fraser Lake Camp near Bancroft where he assisted on the board of directors.

Following the sale of the 5th concession farm, Mr and Mrs Reesor took up residence in a new home on 19th Avenue between the Fifth and Sixth. There, Mrs. Reesor provided round-the-clock care.

Mr Reesor was justifiably proud of his family—five sons, James, Richard and Robert at home; Eugene, R.R. 1, Stouffville; Edward in Hamilton and one daughter, Joanna, (Mrs. Andrew Reesor-McDowell, R.R. 1, Unionville. Two grandchildren, Martin and Allan Reesor-McDowell were a source of great joy. There are four brothers and five sisters.

It was Mrs. Reesor's wish that he remain at home to the end, a request his family respected. He passed away on Sunday.

Rev. David Martin of Hagerman Mennonite Church conducted the service, Wednesday from the Wideman Missionary Church with interment, the adjoining cemetery. The six children served as pallbearers.

Kids display craft skills

Friday being a P.A. Day and no school, dozens of Stouffville children found time hanging heavily on their hands. However, the Parks and Recreation Department came to the rescue of some 60 parents and provided a craft program in Latcham Hall. Instructors included Marlane McKee-Weatherall, Gayle Atkinson, Cathy Richardson and Mike McGinn.

Here, Marlane (left) assists five-year-old Sarah Lyn Hurrell of Tenth Line South, in the making of a bell while Cheryl Jackson, 5, of Vanzant Court and Jennifer Hesse, 9, of Tenth Line North, (right), display their crafted creations. Another similar event is planned for Fri., Dec. 9 from 1 to 4 p.m.
