

REFLECTIONS OF MARKHAM

the Duke of the sea

72 WELLINGTON ST. WEST. (HWY. 7)
IN THE MARKHAM SHOPPING CENTRE
294-9728

The Duke of the Sea has much to offer in the selection of its menu. There is a considerable choice, and the nightly entertainment. Every evening from 7 o'clock on there is live entertainment with group or band playing requests of the dining guests. There has been a considerable change in management and that is reflected in good service to its patrons and in the preparation of The Duke's extensive menu, prepared with extra care by the master chef and his talented son. The preparation of food is very much a family affair, as the father of the chef was in the restaurant business back in the old country in Greece. The menu is more extensive than most restaurants and features seafood platter, shrimp, Dover sole - meuniere or almandine, crab, lobster, scallops, filet of sole and fresh trout to name a few. The appetizers are also quite representative and certainly not lacking in selection: jumbo shrimp, escargot, caesar, and greek salads; oysters, clam chowder and more. The meat includes broiled steaks, roast prime beef, in your favorite cut and there are specialty dishes. The deserts are perhaps somewhat more predictable, but are still well represented.

This time of year is party time, and if you have a small party to celebrate some special occasion, you may want to call John or the maître d' for special prices and arrangements for small groups from 35-50 persons. The surroundings are spacious and certainly not cramped. The overall atmosphere is pleasant and relaxing. If you belong to the growing number of people who eat out regularly, or go out to lunch, The Duke of the Sea offers a happy and pleasant alternative to good dining.

When Curt Fleischer, owner of Toromark Furniture, travelled to Markham in 1950 to investigate the area it took him half a day to get here from Queen and Spadina in Toronto.

But it was worth the effort because Mr. Fleischer was so impressed by the "the pleasant people of Markham", he decided to stay.

He first operated a re-upholstery business out of a rented room on Main St. His showroom was in a hotel that was located where the IGA grocery store currently stands.

When the Five and Dime store across the street moved out, he took over the premises there until 1965 when the Sherwood Plaza on Wellington St. W. was built.

He rented a store at the plaza where he still displays two floors of furniture, drapery, carpeting, and lamps.

Mr. Fleischer is proud to say his store is known to give the best service at the lowest price — better prices than anywhere else, he says.

And, as far as he knows, Toromark is the only furniture store to offer its customers a six-month payment plan with no interest charge.

"I'm very happy to be in Markham," he says.
