

'Girls Next Door'

Twin sisters

CEDAR GROVE — Kim and Kelly Little are twins and confusingly similar. However, each is very much her own person with individual interests and personalities.

They're our "Girls Next Door". Born at R.R. 1, Markham, the daughters of Barry and Aileen Little, Kim and Kelly are very active in agriculture including the Markham 4-H Horse and Calf Clubs. They credit this involvement to enthusiasm generated by their father, one of Ontario's most prominent Jersey breeders. They've been active in Markham Fair also, partly due to 4-H and also because of their father's activity in this area. Barry is the 1983 Fair president.

Kim and Kelly aren't afraid to turn their hands to outside work, calling it "fun".

Both enjoy country life and the freedom it allows. However, they admit transportation can pose a problem whenever there's somewhere to go. They hope to obtain beginners' permits soon and admit that "mom's counting the days".

At Markham High, they belong to a group called The Welcomers' Club, an organization that makes staff members and students feel "at home" in a new environment. Kelly plays the clarinet in the M.D.H.S. concert band and is looking forward to a trip to England this spring. For both, Biology is a favorite subject.

Following graduation, Kim and Kelly plan careers related to agriculture.

Belonging to the Markham 4-H Horse Club has real meaning in that Kim and Kelly have horses of their own. Riding "Esquire" and "Rebel" provides enjoyable recreation.

Along with brother Chris, age ten, Kim and Kelly appreciate the ties of a close family relationship. They do many things together. One such memorable event was a one-week holiday in Jamaica.

Church association is important too. They are members in the congregation of Zion United and alternate as teachers in the Sunday School.

Kelly (left) and Markham are Kim Little, R.R. 1, twins. However, each has interests and ambitions that is her own. A common activity is involvement in the Markham 4-H Horse Club and the Markham 4-H Dairy Club. —Jim Thomas

MARKHAM HYDRO ELECTRIC COMMISSION 1984 RATE SCHEDULE

Ontario Hydro has announced the wholesale cost of power to Markham Hydro will increase by 8.4% on January 1, 1984. Approximately 1.3% of this increase is to subsidize the Ontario Hydro rural rate.

Markham Hydro Commission through careful budgeting and economy measures has been successful in absorbing a portion of this increase regardless of substantially higher utility operating costs.

After careful consideration the Commission has recommended an average rate increase of 8.0% for residential and 7.9% for general service customers and if approved by Ontario Hydro will take effect January 1, 1984.
