

Town generous for United Way

Mayor Eldred King, (left), Fran Sainsbury and Pat Courage, had good reason to smile, Thursday, when results of the Whitchurch-Stouffville campaign for York Region United Way were revealed. Cash and pledges totalled $18,315 which is $7,600 more than in 1982. Mrs Sainsbury was a campaign captain. Mr Courage was one of the canvassers. While the regional total is still eight per cent short of its $800,000 goal, a lucky draw, (expense-paid trip for two to Barbados), sponsored by The Stouffville Tribune, The Markham Economist and Sun and Allports Travel of Unionville, will hopefully put the campaign "over the top".

You used to have to go down town to shop for the unusual... now you only have to go to 123 Main Street North Markham... you'll be pleasantly surprised, so the ad in The Economist states. Well, we did go to Main Street Markham and yes, we agree, this actually is a gift shop with a difference.

Particularly good judgement in buying by the daughter-mother team of Susan Edwards and Shirley Whitham reflects in a shop with a different and delightful appeal.

The greeting card section is wonderful. The cards are different and artistically appealing. "We choose our cards carefully and buy small quantities but from a large number of companies, to get this kind of selection", according to Susan. This has to be the store for super-stocking stuffers. There are myriads of small attractive animals, dolls, and things that make you smile, and make lovely gifts to receive... kites for flying or decorating rooms... really different jewellery by Laurel Burch... music boxes... soft sculptured figures... calendars... little bears... gifts for all ages.

Greenstreets opened in Markham in June 1982. Susan Edwards was a television videotape technician professionally. An aunt in Los Angeles is partially responsible for her newfound career. She worked for a winter in her aunt's gift shop named GREENSTREETS and developed a liking for the business. Susan started her own GREENSTREETS NORTH together with her mother who keeps the accounts in good order. They have resided in Markham for 24 years. A very successful combination indeed. Be sure to visit Greenstreets North for the holiday season or at any time when you need to say it with something very special.
