

Important auction sale

MARKHAM — An auction sale to equal (if not surpass), all auction sales. One is left with this impression on checking out the hundreds of items in the estate of the late Harvey Bunker, Conc. 9, Markham, three-quarters-of-a-mile north of Hwy. 7.

It's the complete household contents of a century farm home, the one-time residence of three brothers, Harvey, Tom and Lorne Bunker and two sisters, Florence Bunker and Beatrice (Patterson). Mrs. Patterson lives at the Village Squire Apartments, Markham.

The sale date is Sat., June 23, beginning at 10 a.m.

There are ten rooms filled with antique furniture including an oak dining room extension table and six oak chairs; an oak drop-front secretary with leaded glass doors; two 3-piece antique bedroom suites all in original finish; a walnut oval parlor table; a round wicker table; two pine blanket boxes in original finish; a 5-piece bedroom suite—the list is endless.

Due to the magnitude of the sale, three auctioneers will take charge—Norm and Phil Faulkner and Earl Gauslin.

Praise French restaurant

By Cal Avery
Having attended many plant openings over the years, I wish to tip my hat to Tokai of Canada and Uxbridge Township on a very class operation.

During the afternoon of May 31, we were presented with lovely momentos from the Tokai people. This was followed by a gala reception at the Uxbridge Music Hall. Delicacies included caviar wrapped in cream cheese and cucumber, along with shrimp dipped in rich, spicy sauce—a good time was had by all.

However, for Cathryn and I, the evening was just beginning.

Ben and Irene Kublica, recent newcomers to the area, joined us in a visit to the newly-opened Le Marmion on Main Street West, Stouffville. I can only describe it as a delightful dining experience.

My congratulations to Peggy and Michael on their fine efforts. The decor is continental and although we arrived rather late in the evening, we were welcomed. Each table was adorned with fresh flowers that set the mood for tranquil dining.

Our menu was quite diverse and interesting albeit entirely in French. The addition of English subtitles is recommended for those of us who are still unilingual and have forgotten most of our high school French.

Our charming waitress was helpful in explaining what we couldn't understand, but it would have been nicer simply to ponder over the menu awhile prior to her arrival.

Ben was delighted with Vichyssoise Glacee a la Vodka, (potato soup). It was creamy with a fresh, distinctive taste. Irene sampled Soupe a l'Oignon a la Manzanilla, (French onion soup), that was served piping hot, with delicious, rich broth, topped with crusty melted cheese.

My Filet de Saumon en Feuilleté was very well prepared—a moist, easy-cut breaded salmon steak. Cathryn delighted in her meal of Magrets-de Canard au Vinaigre de Framboises. The roast duck was a little on the dry side but the crunchy stuffing and delicious hint of raspberry in the sauce, compensated.

Ben enjoyed Pavé de Filet au Poivre Vert; very tender and not overly peppered. The knife-yielding Filets de Sole et Mousse de Fruits de Mer Nantua, (see what I mean about subtitles), were served moist, perfectly cooked, doused with tangy sauce. Irene found this very palatable.

Each of the excellent entrees was accompanied with fresh, (never frozen), vegetables—delicate diced potatoes, buttery steamed fiddleheads and juicy tomato halves with just the right amount of seasoning.

We were sorry we didn't have time, (or room), for any of the special desserts offered, but we shall return.

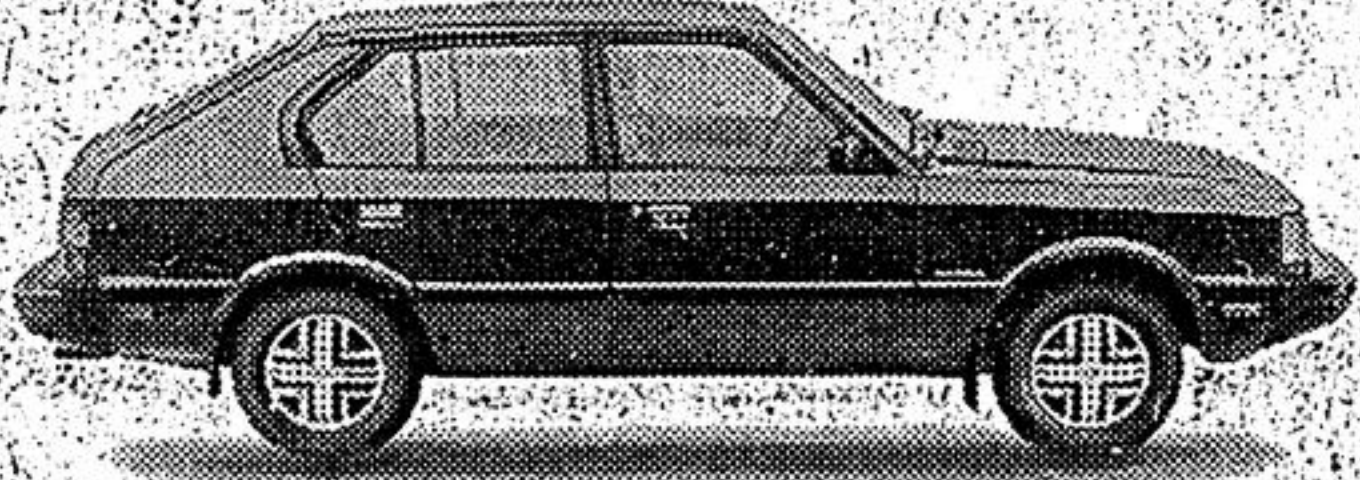

The wine list is impressive. Prices are very reasonable—a nice surprise for such delicious French cuisine.

Dinner for two, (with wine), ranges from thirty-five to forty dollars.

Canada, meet the Pony.

The Pony that is brand new to Canada has been sold around the world since 1976. It has seen every road condition you can imagine.

To make sure the Pony stands up to Canada's frigid driving conditions, last winter a fleet of Ponys spent four months in Kapuskasing, Ontario. Only four months, but they received a few years' worth of wear and tear to find out if Pony has the guts for Canada. It does.

Pony has won over demanding drivers around the globe. Today the world, tomorrow Canada.

The Pony is a four-door sedan with a hatchback made in South Korea. It is powered by a 1439 cc rear wheel drive engine. And although the Pony L is one of the lowest priced cars in Canada it has features inside and out that make driving more pleasant, safer and more comfortable. For example, Michelin all-season radial tires, childproof door locks and rear window defroster.

The Pony GL is a step up in features—the middle-priced, high value Pony. The Pony GL is the top of the line in features, and still very modestly priced. And all Ponys have a special bonus for their owners: they put money in your pocket because they efficiently burn regular, leaded gas.

You're going to be hearing a lot about the Pony. Around town, around the corner and around your neighbourhood.

Why not see what all the fuss is all about and take one for a test drive?
