

Dickson's Hill graduate Achievement award

DICKSON'S HILL — Fifty-six students received Grade 8 graduation diplomas, June 26, during an impressive ceremony at Dickson's Hill School.

In addition, several subject awards were presented. Recipients were: Shaheen Doctor, Emerson Electric Trophy for highest overall achievement and York Region Board of Education Award; Karsten Henze, (Science); Wally Barbour, (Music); Marianne Woolley, (Visual Art); Kevin Strachan, (Math); Peter Byer, (English); Shona McWilliams, (French); Scott McMullen, (Geography); Scott Kimura, (History); Murray Otter, (Physical Education & Health); Conrad Small, (Most Improvement); Bethesda Women's Institute Award.

The ceremony's guest speaker was Regional Councilor Ron Moran. One veteran staff member described the address as "one of the finest he'd 'Best is yet to come'

DICKSON'S HILL — "You have made school seem like fun. You have made me laugh, not only at you but at myself. Thank you for sharing yourselves and the special talents you possess. Our parents and teachers have shown us the right direction and now the responsibility is ours to remain on the road to success, for the best is yet to come." These words concluded a valedictory address by 13-year-old Shaheen Doctor at Dickson's Hill School's Grade 8 graduation ceremony, June 26. Her remarks prompted enthusiastic applause.

Later, Shaheen told of the friendliness she had found at Dickson's Hill after moving three years ago from Rexdale to Emiline Crescent, Markham. She's looking forward to attending Stouffville Dist. Secondary School in September. A portion of Shaheen's summer vacation will be spent at Markham Dist. High School. She's taking Grade 9 Math, four hours, a day over a period of four weeks. If successful, she'll obtain a credit in the subject and gain a head start towards her secondary school graduation diploma. Math is her favorite subject.

Theme of the Graduation was "The Best Is Yet To Come—After Grade 8". Shaheen spoke in glowing terms of Principal Douglas Winger and teachers on staff, singling out several for Oscar awards. She described Mr. Knights as "terrific" and Mrs. Campbell as "great".
