

'Girl Next Door' Talented artist

By Jim Thomas

BALLANTRAE — Lovely oil paintings are everywhere in the home of Peter and Barbara Zwier, Hwy. 43 at Ballantrae.

The creator of these works of art is 14-year-old Cindy Zwier, a student this fall in Grade 10 at Stouffville High.

"I do it for my own pleasure," Cindy says. She took a drawing course at age 11 and attended a night school art class at the age of twelve.

Cindy comes by her artistic talents honestly. Her father's skilled along the same lines.

Cindy's our "Girl Next Door." Ballantrae's a nice place to live, Cindy says. However, with no bus service and being too young to drive, getting around is sometimes difficult. She must depend on her parents for transportation.

In spite of this, Cindy gets around quite a bit. She works every weekend at the Stouffville Sales Barn and, along with sister Nicole, assists as a banquet waitress at The Firefighters Rolling Hills Golf Course, Bethesda. She enjoys swimming and tennis.

Cindy played the flute in the Grade 9 band, a continuation of instruction obtained in Grade 8 at Ballantrae.

She's been on several long-distance trips including England and France. She's also been to Florida twice. Some day, she hopes to travel round the world.

While still a few years to go before graduation, Cindy thinks she'd like a profession that has something to do with animals. She once considered a career as a policewoman, but that's pretty well in the past.

Although Ballantrae's been her life-long home, this may soon change. When her parents sell their present place, Cindy will be making new friends elsewhere.

Fourteen-year-old Cindy Zwier is a talented artist. Many of her paintings are displayed in the family's lovely home at Ballantrae. She does it solely for her own pleasure, she says, a hobby she began as a student in Ballantrae Public School.
