Dance talent

Thursday evening was Dance Night at Markham Fair.

So it seemed, at the Teeny Talent Contest. Each of the participants displayed that kind of skill including Kimberley Steenson, 11, of Ramona Boulevard, Markham; (top); Shannon Paterson, 11, of Senator Reesor's Drive, Markham; (jazz); Jennifer Clucas, 13, of Milliken and Alison Disheau, 12, of Church Street, Markham; (jazz); Stephanie Inglis, 12, and Laura Inglis, six, of Timber Mill Crescent, Markham; (jazz); and Dana Lee Norton, seven, of Wellington Street, Markham; (break dance).

Stephanie and Laura Inglis are sisters. Jennifer Clucas and Alison Disheau are cousins.

The entries weren't judged but instead, each received similar prizes for participation.

It wasn't beginner's luck

Fifteen-year-old Theresa Yake of R.R. 4, Stouffville, was a first-time participant in the Eighteen and Under Class at Markham Fair. It's unlikely her last, for she was a first prize on her decorated cake. Theresa's a Grade 10 student at Stouffville Dist. Secondary School.
