"Girl Next Door" Busy student at S.D.S.S.

STOUFFVILLE — If Jane Wagg is sorry to leave Stouffville Dist. Secondary School next June, S.D.S.S. will be equally sorry to see her go. For Jane has been active in many areas of school life including Room Representative on the Students' Council; a Co-Director and participant in the Variety Show and a Prefect. She's our 'Girl Next Door'. English and History are favorite subjects. Following graduation from Grade 13, she plans to enrol in the Journalism course at Ryerson. "I'm intrigued by what Ryerson has to offer," she says, in answer to why she would select that college. Reading, and writing are favorite past-times. Swimming and tennis are favorite sports. Jane's almost as busy out of school as in. She works part-time at Parkview Home; is enrolled in an English night course at S.D.S.S. and serves on the board of Stouffville United Church. She has her Grade 9 piano. Without hesitation, she claims her parents are the most important people in her life. "We're a close family," she says, "we enjoy doing things together." Another important person is boyfriend Glenn Dee, a graduate in Law, Enforcement from Seneca College. Jane and Glenn met at the family cottage on Manitoulin Island. He hopes to serve with the Ontario Provincial Police. "The cottage is my favorite spot," Jane says, "better even than Florida." She's been to Florida twice and coast-to-coast across Canada. Some day she hopes to visit England and parts of Europe.

Players plan fall production

STOUFFVILLE — The Stouffville Players are presenting Glyn Jones' "Thriller Of The Year", Nov. 16 and 17 in Latham Hall. Curtain time is 8 p.m. The story's about Gillian Howard, well-known London novelist who, on her return from a celebration party, finds she's been sent a copy of her own successful novel "The Lady is Dead". There follows a series of strange 'accidents' that convince her someone's trying to kill her. The question is— who? The cast follows: Gillian Howard, (Susan Bell); Irene Knight, (Melanie Rodgers); Madge Robinson, (Cathy Wallace); Beryl Spence, (Luz Meyer); Edith Howard, (Gladys Germano). The play's director is Roger Glazin. Its production is by special arrangement with Samuel French (Canada) Ltd. Following this, the Stouffville Players will present a stage performance for children, Feb. 16 and 17, and an end-of-season comedy early in May.

Abduction charge against town man

STOUFFVILLE — A 52-year-old Stouffville man faces several sex-related charges following his arrest by York Regional Police, Oct. 18. The suspect is charged with abduction of a female under the age of sixteen; sexual assault; committing indecent acts and dangerous driving. It is alleged the accused picked up the 15-year-old near his residence and drove her to a remote area of town. Later, he was observed operating a motor vehicle in an erratic manner. He was arrested on Main Street. Detective Gordon Marshall of 19 Division is in charge of the case.
