

THORNE RIDDELL ON ACCOUNTING & AUDITING

There's more to accounting than profit and loss

To deliver our best, we have to be business advisors — anticipating problems, suggesting strategies, monitoring results.

"Usually, a client knows where he wants to go, but needs direction on how to get there. That's when a business review will often reap big dividends. We can help many companies improve their performance, particularly small and medium size firms with limited internal resources."
