Aid for prisoners

Dear Editor:
A public meeting is scheduled for Wed., Dec. 5 at 8 p.m., in the Markham Centennial Library, (Hwy. 48 and 7), to establish the relocation of Group 31, Amnesty International from Uxbridge to the Stouffville-Markham-Unionville area. Group 31, founded in Cannington in 1977, has had an illustrious career, having participated in the winning of freedom for thirteen 'prisoners of conscience' all over the globe.

Amnesty International, a non-sectarian, non-political organization, winner of the Nobel Peace Prize in 1977, is dedicated to working for the release of those who are held in detention for their religious or political beliefs and who have never used or advocated violence. Around the free world, members of Amnesty groups are engaged in writing letters to key figures of varied world regimes, to bring to their attention, specific violations in their countries of the United Nations' Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

We are encouraging all those who have, in the past, supported Group 31 through membership or letter-writing, to attend this meeting. The future of Group 31 depends upon the establishment of a vibrant executive and supportive membership. Group 31 is looking forward to the infusion of vitality from new members.

For additional information call 640-3840. Sincerely, Roger Glazin, Fairview Avenue, Stouffville
