

Bid au revoir

Farewell to Quebec student

The inscription on the cake read 'au revoir Isabelle' as SDSS friends said farewell Wednesday to 15-year-old exchange student Isabelle Tarte, (left), of Iberville, Quebec, Isabelle's host during the past two months has been Elaine McCullough, 15, of 16th Avenue, Markham. Beginning in February, Elaine will spend three months in Iberville and attend high school there. —Jim Thomas

TRAFALGAR CASTLE SCHOOL
(Founded 1874)
WHERE WE STILL LISTEN

For one hundred and ten years we have been listening to young ladies at Trafalgar Castle...we listen when they fail to grasp an academic concept...we listen when they have social problems...we listen to their laughter at play and their singing in chapel. Over the past century of offering superior education we have tried to respond to each girl as an individual. Our small size (180 students), our gracious environment (we live in a castle) our long established tradition and our modern facilities (a new academic wing has just been added) make listening and responding, not a hollow promise, but a commitment. When our graduates go on to college they do so with a sense of having been educated in a special place and having been treated as special people.
