SDSS Variety Show displays fine talent

STOUFFVILLE — It's Stouffville's mini Music Mania Variety Show '85, hosted by the students of Stouffville Dist. Secondary School, takes to the stage Feb. 28, March 1 and 2. Show times are 8 p.m.

The director and producer are Leslie Stronach, 17 and Charmaine Lintner, 16, both of Grade 12. They are assisted by a committee comprising Wendy Beaton, Ganish Persaud, Jill Keith, Jeff Slover, Susan Rosenberger, Crystal Schmeier and Cathy Carr, along with staff teachers, Mrs. Stamatou, Mrs. Semeniuk, Mr. Hodgson, Mr. Rehill and Mr. Sheel.

The cast, both on-stage and back stage, comprises close to one hundred. "We were afraid it wasn't going to go ahead," Leslie said, explaining their reason for becoming involved: She and Charmaine put their heads together and soon, the 'show was on the road'. Both have participated previously.

Student co-operation has been good, the girls say. Practices are held Sundays, during lunch periods and after school. The show will be about two hours long.

Many of the costumes, particularly for the dances, are being made by the girls themselves. Others will be bought and some will be borrowed.

The annual Variety Show, hosted by the students of Stouffville Dist. Secondary School, assisted by several teachers, opens Feb. 28 and continues March 1 and 2. The show's producer is Leslie Stronach, (right). The director is Charmaine Lintner, (left), both in Grade 12. — Jim Thomas
