GORMLEY. I was interested to read the news item in the Feb. 20 Tribune, related to mail delivery between Stouffville and Quito, Ecuador. Mrs. Russell Sproton said none of her letters reached her daughter, Marjorie in Quito, over a period of two months; then in two days, she received four. My mail service, (or lack thereof), tops that. A friend sent me a Christmas card dated Dec. 14. It was properly addressed, even had the correct postal code. On Feb. 18, it was delivered to my postal box. My friend lives only 1 1/2 miles away. It surely must have travelled via a slow boat to China.

Mrs. Bruce Steckley is home again following several weeks in York Central Hospital, Richmond Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Sider and Show time!

By Chris Garbutt
It's had its ups and downs. It was many months in the making. It's meant hard work and late nights for many, but come tomorrow evening, (Thurs. Feb. 28), it will all be worth it. If you haven't already guessed, I'm referring to the 1985 S.D.S.S. Variety Show, and man, is there variety! There's entertainment in almost every form—singing, dancing, comedy and drama.

Preparations began in September, but reached fever pitch this month. There were skits to rehearse, dances to choreograph, props to build and lights to focus. This work was done almost entirely by students, with help from our teachers—Mrs. Stamatou, Miss Semeniuk, Mr. Hodgson, Mr. Rehill and Mr. White.

The director is Charmaine Lintner. The producer is Leslie Stronach. Charmaine and Leslie have had the unenviable task of trying to keep nearly one hundred students under control, and maintaining some semblance of order during rehearsals.

They've done a terrific job! The skits range from the silly to the serious. Some have an English flavor like "Self Defense Class", led by Colin Widdifield. Another skit, starring Ralph Dube and Sareh Persaud, features an excerpt from a Shakespearean play, Ben Wallis and David Price play two brothers in "My Brother Russell". On the dramatic side, Neil Jones and Anne Christie star in a "Love Poem". Wendy Beaton is the chairperson of the skit-writing committee.

There are four dance numbers. Each is an excellent demonstration of poise and grace, performed to popular music. In addition, the gymnastics club will display its skills.

Music will be provided by the S.D.S.S. choir. Mr. Rehill, the choir director describes them as "dynamite". Susan Rosenberger is the choir president.

The backstage crew are the unsung heroes. Ganesh Persaud and his helpers are responsible for all the props and backdrops. The technical crew, led by Jeff Stover, is in charge of the lighting and sound. The make-up crew are also an essential part of the show.

Variety Show '85 will result in many memories—hectic Sunday rehearsals, repeating bits and pieces over and over again and Mrs. Stamatou's inspiring "pep talks".

So keep at least one night free this week—Thursday, Friday or Saturday. You won't regret it!
