"Girl Next Door"

Too soon -farewell

There'll be something missing from Stouffville Dist. Secondary School when the new term opens next September. Susan Simpson's sparkling smile and radiant personality will be absent from the halls and classrooms of S.D.S.S. She's moving to a new home at Unionville, a change in locations that makes Markham High School the beneficiary. Susan's our "Girl Next Door."

"I'd like to finish up at Stouffville," says the 17-year-old Grade 11 student. However, there's no bus transportation from the area where she'll be living.

Markham is by no means strange to Susan, however. She's lived there before and is temporarily living there now until their new house is ready. She admits she'll notice a difference in the size of schools. "I hope I'll be able to adjust quickly."

Susan is loud in her praise of the staff at S.D.S.S., particularly Mr Roche, her Math teacher. Math is her favorite subject, mostly she says, because of his instruction.

Susan was one of the scintillating dancers in the recent Variety Show. She's also a senior cheerleader.

Following graduation, she hopes to attend Police College. She regards herself as "a people person" and feels she'll be happy in such a career. A position with the York Regional Force interests her greatly.

Perhaps, without knowing it, hundreds of people meet Susan on weekends at the Stouffville A & P. She's been a part-time cashier there since September and hopes to retain the position this summer. Last winter, she was a waitress at Sleepy Hollow Golf & Country Club.

Susan's enjoyed the sunny South on several occasions, including Florida and Myrtle Beach. She has her heart set on Hawaii or The Bahamas, (or both), sometime in the future.

Susan's parents are Brian and Barbara Simpson. She has an older brother, Dan.

Seventeen-year-old Susan Simpson, a Grade 11 student at Stouffville High, is completing her final year at S.D.S.S. She'll attend Markham High following her family's move to a new home in Unionville. After graduation, Susan hopes to enroll in police college.

News from S.D.S.S.

T-shirts are in style

By Chris Garbutt

If you're considering expanding your wardrobe this spring, first stop should be Stouffville Dist. Secondary School.

The brand new S.D.S.S. shirts are out!

There are two styles—the regular, long-sleeved type and the box-type. The regular T-shirt comes in all sizes, small, medium, large and extra-large. And the cost is only eleven dollars! For a mere two dollars extra, your name can be emblazened on the back. Or, if you prefer only a number, the cost is $1.50. The box-type shirt is a one-size-fits-all type that sells for thirteen dollars.

The shirts are on display in the school's front foyer. They look great and will probably set the fashion scene on its ear. And get this—they're NOT wine colored!

Order yours today and show some real school spirit!

By the way, these are not to be confused with the new "champ" T-shirts that recently came out. They look great too, but they must be earned.

Public Speaking

Congratulations to Doug Scott of Grade 10, a first prize-winner, (boys' division), in the Lions-sponsored Public Speaking Competition. Marc Meyer, Grade 11, was second. Jane Anderson, Grade 10, placed second in the girls' division.

Packed House

The first leg of the band-choir exchange between Olean, New York and Stouffville, was held March 25-27. The Olean band and choir played and sang before a packed house, March 26. The Olean visit here was much enjoyed by both guests and hosts. Stouffville's band and choir members are looking forward to the return trip to Olean this month!

Badminton Finals

The current sport holding the spotlight at S.D.S.S. is not volleyball, but badminton. The lunchtime league has proved quite successful. It concludes this week with the finals in each division set for today and tomorrow. If you're in the Vulture, Turkey or any of the other divisions, be sure and attend your playoff game.

Floor Hockey Starts

The wind-up of the badminton season makes way for the granddaddy of them all—the floor hockey league. This is the most popular of all noon-time activities, (other than eating), so sign up today.

Color keyed Main Street

STOUFFVILLE — A color-keyed Main Street

A proposal that would highlight the Town colors of blue, gold and white in an area extending from Albert Street on the west of Park Drive on the east, was discussed at a recent Business Improvement Area board meeting.

Blending in with several official Town flags will be the fire hydrants and street signs. Approval of council is still required.

"The town needs a theme," Fran Sainsbury said. Councillor Sainsbury has been a main proponent of the color-key plan.

Nostalgia lights, costing $40,000, are also being considered. A fund may be established to cover this expense.

To take advantage of provincial government grants, a Main Street Study will be conducted. Terms of the Study will be drawn up by a committee comprising Mayor Tom Wood, Chamber of Commerce President Ged Stonehouse and Culture and Recreation Director George Schlukbier.
