Fairgate Heights

"We love it," say new home-owners

By Jim Thomas
STOUFFVILLE—Fairgate Heights is part of Stouffville's Dulverton Development. The majority of homes have been sold and now possess that "lived in" look. Recently, I called on several owners in the area of Hemlock Drive, Gabrielle Mews and Deborah Place to obtain opinions of Stouffville; the subdivision and their homes. Some comments follow:
"I love it," said Carol Lummiss, mother of two plus two foster children. She, her husband and family moved from Scarborough to Stouffville "to get out of the city."
"We really like it," said Frances Cairo of 205 Gabrielle Mews. "It's a beautiful subdivision with lovely homes." Mr and Mrs Cairo, originally from Toronto, lived previously on Loretta Crescent North.
Lena Diesberger, 244 Hemlock Drive, said she appreciates Stouffville's "small town" atmosphere. Mr and Mrs Diesberger have two daughters, Sonya, seven and Susanne, five.

"It's beautiful," said Emma Altomare of Deborah Place. "We're enjoying it very much. They moved to Stouffville from the Bethesda Road.
Wilma Scorrar also of Deborah Place thinks living in Stouffville is "great". "We love it," she said. Mr and Mrs Scorrar and family lived previously at Ballantrae.
Violet Stewart said she and her husband wanted a bungalow and Fairgate Heights provided what they were looking for. They live at 203 Gabrielle Mews, coming here from Unionville last July. Mrs Stewart said she appreciates the lovely trees recently planted along the boulevards by the subdivider.
"We wanted a better quality home in an area closer to where activities are going on," said Dan MacDonald, 219 Hemlock Drive. Mr and Mrs MacDonald and family lived previously at Musselman's Lake.
Lina Ronco of 200 Gabrielle Mews said it's "more house for the money," than what they'd owned in North York and Scarborough. "We're enjoying it."

Sixteen-year-old Morgan Winn, formerly of Goodwood, says he "likes it fine," despite the fact he had to "switch" from Uxbridge High to S.D.S.S. "I knew lots of people here," he said, making the change in locations easier. Morgan and his parents, Dave and Susan Winn, reside at 253 Hemlock Drive.
Victoria Davia of 280 Deborah Place said she and her husband experienced some problems when they first moved in. They lived previously on Booth Drive. The larger house and lot is an improved investment, she said.
"We wanted a larger home and we love it," said April Spooenberg of 262 Deborah Place. A resident of Stouffville nine years, Mr and Mrs Spooenberg resided previously on Booth Drive.
John Badgerow had just finished "grooming" his son and daughter-in-law's lawn when The Tribune called. They (Allan and Helen) like it here. "They have fine neighbors," Mr Badgerow said. Strange as it may seem, Helen can drive to work at Concord in less time from Stouffville than from Markham, he said, due to the multitude of stop lights on Hwy. 7.
Margaret Bibby, although a recent arrival in Stouffville, says she "likes it fine." Mrs Bibby resides with her son and daughter-in-law on Millard Street. "The rents are too high in Toronto," she stated.

Editor's Mail

Provided help when needed

Dear Editor:
Through The Tribune, I wish to thank York County Hospital at Newmarket for their prompt "no questions asked" approach in treating a frightened twelve-year-old asthmatic runaway from Winnipeg.

A York Regional Police officer put me in touch with a Mr Meyers of the Children's Aid who, in turn, with his assistant, handled the situation efficiently and compassionately.

Sincerely,
S.R.
