STELLAR.
 WE DIP IT IN MUD,
 SPRAY IT WITH SALT,
 THEN GIVE IT A GOOD SHAKING.

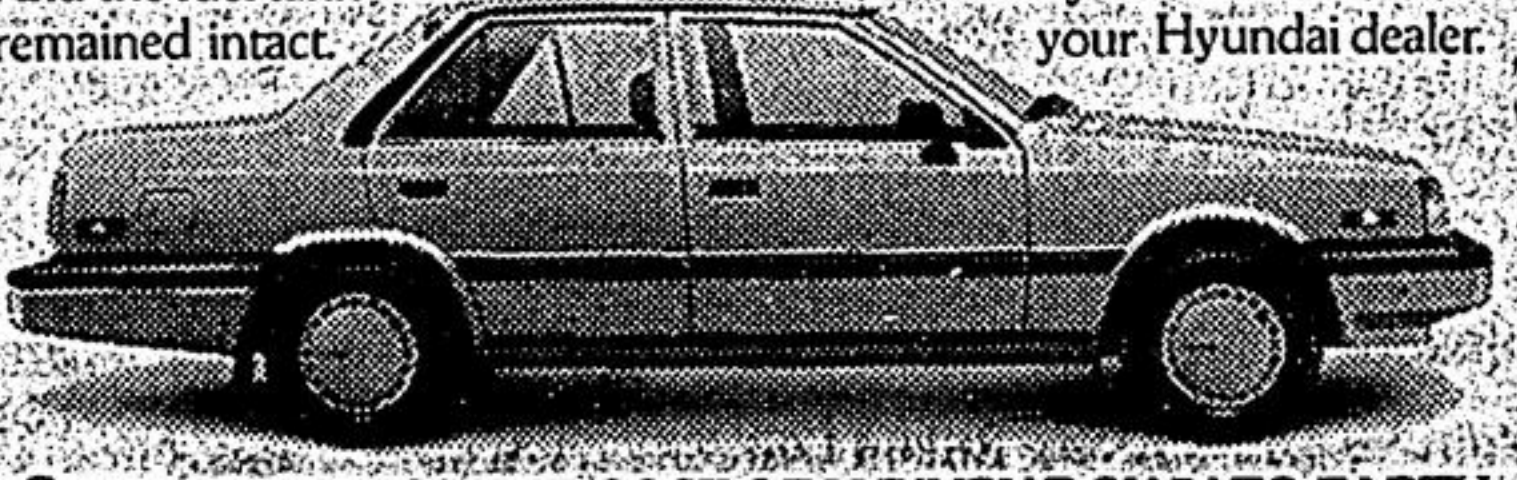

Is this any way to treat a beautiful car? Hyundai thinks so. That's why they built a $22.5 million research centre and test track in Ulsan, Korea. Here, the performance and safety features of Stellar are punished and tested, again and again. Stellars tackle a cross-country obstacle road course that includes potholes, a skid track and Belgian road blocks. Even a deep mud trough.

Stellars go through a specially designed salt-spray tunnel. Result? Hyundai warrants every Stellar part (excluding exhaust system) against perforation for three full years. In controlled laboratory tests, Stellars are slammed into steel barriers at various speeds to simulate head-on collisions. They pass all national and international standards for crash resistance. Even in test collisions, the windows didn't shatter. The doors still opened. And the fuel tank remained intact.

Stellar: tough on the inside, beautiful on the outside. To see this proven luxury car in action, visit your Hyundai dealer.
