S.D.S.S. Walk-a-Thon big fund-raising event

Event scheduled for today

By CHRIS GARBUTT
In case you're wondering why large groups of high school students are walking through town in the middle of the day, wonder no longer. They're not skipping classes. Nor are they conducting a protest march. They're participating in the year's major fund-raiser — The Walk-a-Thon.

This event proved such a hit last year it's become an annual event. If the weather holds, it's scheduled to take place today.

Money is raised through sponsorships on a pledge-per-kilometer basis. Since the course is a distance of 10 kilometers, multiplication should be fairly simple.

All funds must be remitted prior to the Walk-a-Thon's start. Prizes will be awarded to those who make a special effort to acquire sponsors. Individuals raising the most money will receive a percentage of the money they raise. The home room raising the highest collective total receives a FREE pizza party.

With the revenue, the Student Council will be better able to support the school and the community. Among items purchased last year was a new sound system for the stage.

After all that walking, many may have lost some weight. To rectify this, the Inter-School Christian Fellowship is holding an event called "The Battle of the Stomachs." This will take place in the gym at lunch time. Teams consisting of six students and one teacher will be on stage, eating as fast as they can in their fight to be considered "the best stomachs at S.D.S.S." It's a timed activity. The fastest team will take the title.

As to what food these contestants will eat, that's a well-kept secret.
