Lounge work by volunteers

STOUFFVILLE — When an upstairs lounge was first considered for the Town's new Rec. Centre, the cost was estimated at $65,000. Council considered it an 'extra' and cut it from the contract.

Since then, several firms and organizations have volunteered assistance, reducing the expenditure to about $39,000. The project should be completed by Jan. 1, 1986, George Schlukbier, Director of Parks and Recreation told The Tribune.

"The Town definitely won't be adding to its debtenture," Mr Schlukbier said.

The drywall's been installed with tile and lighting next in line, Schlukbier explained. The Amateur Hockey League players, under the direction of Butch Blacktop, are wholeheartedly behind the scheme, he said.

In addition to a meeting place after games, Mr Schlukbier hopes to hold teen dances there on a regular basis.

"Right now, it's three-quarters finished," he concluded.

Band concert

Lovely tapestries on display

STOUFFVILLE — Color, Texture and Form.

Work by six artists epitomizing one or all of these characteristics, will be on show at The Latham Gallery in Stouffville.

Color and texture are important elements in tapestries by local artists Dianne K. Johnson of Markham; Ursula Matrosov of Newmarket and Judi von Zuben of Stouffville.

Texture and form with subtle coloring are inherent in the media used by ceramist Ann Mortimer and jewelry/knifemaker Suzanne St. Amour. Another local artist, Brenda Tucker of Uxbridge uses all three elements in her porcelain and glass sculpture pieces.

A beautiful blend of three different craft media, this exhibition will be the setting for the 4th annual Gallery Party, Fri., Dec. 4.

The artists will be present at that time in lieu of an opening party.

Tickets are still available at the Library.

All work is for sale and can be viewed from Sat., Nov. 30 until Fri., Dec. 20, 1985.
