STOUFFVILLE — Residents of Parkview Home have many reasons to smile. One is the presence of 18-year-old Ann Singh, a student on part-time staff now almost a year.

Her friendly personality spreads happiness wherever she goes.

She's our "Girl Next Door."

"I love working there," says Ann, a Grade 13 student at Stouffville High, "it's a wonderful experience, I'm learning a lot."

The association works two ways. For Ann is actually a native of Guyana, coming to Canada with her parents, brothers and sister sixteen years ago. With the exception of one brother, (Alan), all live in Stouffville.

Ann was only two years old when her mother and dad came to this country. She's been 'home' a couple of times, once at age seven and again at age twelve.

"It's a beautiful place," says Ann, "but I was pleased to come back." English is the main language spoken there.

A number of family relatives still live in the capital city of Georgetown, including her grandmother.

Ann has no complaints about S.D.S.S. "It's a friendly school," she says, "the atmosphere is good."

English is a favorite subject.

On the pleasure side of life, Ann enjoys entertaining her niece and two nephews; cooking and baking, (especially desserts and bread); and camping. Her brother Mike has a cabin on Manitoulin Island.

Following graduation, Ann plans to study Law.

Because she's the youngest in a 'close' family circle, Ann says she's benefitted from their experiences. She's pleased that, despite the fact her sister and three brothers are married, all still live in Stouffville or less than thirty minutes away.

Students show spirit

By CHRIS GARBUTT

STOUFFVILLE — Now that we're well into the Christmas season, Stouffville Dist. Secondary School is really getting into the spirit of things.

Anyone who was at the Stouffville Santa Claus Parade on Saturday saw that spirit exemplified by the S.D.S.S. school float. The enthusiastic participants and the theme "We're Out of This World" shows the community just how much spirit the high school has.

Another Christmas season event is the home room decorating contest. Every home room is invited to use any appropriate symbols: holly, mistletoe, paper snowflakes, reindeer, and even the jolly old fat man himself — Santa Claus.

This is an excellent chance for the imaginative to let their creativity run wild. Room 106, Mr. Scorrar's grade 11 home room, got an impressive head start on the other classes, and they will be difficult to top.

Unfortunately, no yuletide dance is scheduled, but students can look forward to the Grade 12 Assembly, and likely a spirit day to celebrate the season.

Volleyball Finals

Volleyball just never seems to stop at the school. Last week, the finals of the new, expanded lunchtime league took place, capping off a highly successful season.

Here are the champions:

Junior League (Recreational) — The Tanks, with Tammy Blasco, Bruce Hachey, Cindy Morton, Andy Muse, Ken Otter, Kim Saunders, Nick Tatore, and Maureen Verhoog.

Junior League (Competitive) — The Whips, with Wally Barbour, Linda Belisle, Mike Davidson, Chris Diamond, Mark Dorey, David Dunlop, Scott Evans, Danny Larmer, and Leslie Snooks.

Senior League (Recreational) — The Leapers, with Lisa Fockler, Khalid Mirza, Dan Roller, Yvonne Semlacher, Leslie Stronach, Sarah Winger, and Debbie Wise.

Senior League (Competitive) — The Kings, with Karl Amer, Shane Asa, Patricia Benders, Brent Brown, Nina Chee, Kelly Cowan, Mike Feasby, Frank Sluga, Karey White, and Paul Sinclair.

A Gift for Everyone

Finally, there are many people who will go through Christmas with barely enough of the basic necessities. Students can help these people by contributing boxed, canned and paper goods at the school.

Everyone should be able to make a donation, and by doing so, help some people enjoy Christmas just a little more.
