Free x-country skiing lessons are available

Cross country skiers will be able to take advantage of discounts for pro shop services and free ski lessons during National Ski Week, at two Metro region conservation areas.

During the next two Saturdays, Jan. 18 and 25, all pro shop services, including cleaning, hot waxing, base repair and preparation, will be offered at half-price at Albion Hills and Bruce's Mill Conservation Areas. Free cross country ski lessons will be offered the next two Sundays, Jan. 19 and 26.

Both conservation areas are operated by The Metropolitan Toronto and Region Conservation Authority.

To receive a free lesson, skiers must pick up a ticket at the rental counters at the conservation areas the day of the event, in order to be registered in a class. There is a limit of 15 people per class, and there are two classes an hour scheduled from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Albion Hills Conservation Area is located on Hwy 50, approximately eight kilometres north of Bolton. Bruce's Mill Conservation Area is located on the Stouffville Sideroad, two kilometres east of Woodbine Ave. For information on ski conditions, call the Metro Conservation Authority at (416) 661-6600.

Uxbridge players put on new play at the Music Hall

Tickets are selling fast for Uxbridge Players' presentation of Blithe Spirit at the Music Hall Feb. 6, 7 and 8.

A limited number of tickets, at $10 each including refreshments, are available for the Thursday grand opening.

Some of the proceeds will go to the Uxbridge Library Fund to aid expansion of the existing facility.

With the help of a Theatre Ontario grant, professional director Steve Ballentine has been hired to stage the play.

Tickets may be purchased in advance by contacting Mary Bolter at 852-7320.

Correction for meeting

In the Wednesday, Jan. 15 edition of the Economist and Sun, it was incorrectly stated in the Community Calendar that the Markham Business Club will hold its breakfast meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 21.

Instead, the meeting will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 22 at 7:30 a.m. at Cullen Country Barns at Kennedy Rd. and Steeles Ave. Admission is $10. For further information, contact Richard Harvey at 294-0427.
