

Ladies off to museum

By ELSIE BOLAND
GOODWOOD Members of the Goodwood Women's Institute will visit Markham Museum on Tuesday, May 6. Anyone wishing to take part in the outing should contact Mary Elson at 640-6927. Motto for the group's meeting is "Record the past with scissors and pen" while roll call is "name a past ervee of Uxbridge Township".

McGuckin, Maudie Anderson, Bea Harrison, Mrs. King, Francis Hockley, Rita Anchor, Ross Thompson, Everett Hammond, Art Parratt and Celeste Smalley. The next euchre night is scheduled for Wednesday, May 7 at 8 p.m.

The United Church Women will meet at Elva Symes' residence on Monday, May 5 at 1 p.m.

Rev. Edith Ann McManiman delivered a splendid sermon Sunday at Goodwood United Church. Choir members rendered an anthem that was hard to forget.

Sunday, May 11 will be a christening day at the United Church. To schedule a time, contact 640-1757.

Pleased to hear that Pearl Burnell is home from the hospital and recovering from a heart ailment.

A capacity crowd enjoyed Saturday's dance hosted by the Couples Club. That group is also sponsoring a May 10 community centre benefit for fire victims Stan and Judy Todd and family. Additional funds are being raised through a special 50/50 draw. Tickets, at $1 each, are available from Couples Club members.

It was quite a week for birthday girl Elsie Boland, who turned 76 years young on April 25. She was honored by several community groups, including Goodwood Couples Club. Mrs. Boland received a delicious birthday cake following her volunteer duties at the club's weekend social.

Goodwood gymnasts shine at Durham finals

Grade 2 student Shayna Segal (right), paced Goodwood Public School with a silver-medal performance in compulsory beam (Kindergarten to Grade 4) at Durham Elementary Athletic Association's gymnastic finals April 23. Andrea Hathaway of Grade 6 also qualified for the championship meet held at R.H. Cornish Public School in Port Perry. She placed seventh in advanced compulsory vault (Grades 5 to 8). Staff member Kathy Wasylenky coached the school's team of nine gymnasts.
