

The Unionville Standard Times

8th Central Corral ready to go

Central United Church is hosting its 8th Central Corral on the grounds of the newly expanded church.

The ever-popular Sesame Gulch will be in full swing with face painting, candy floss, fish pond and games of skill.

For the thrill seekers there is the famous scary Haunted House located in the church basement.

While the kids are being entertained, mom and dad can peruse the country kitchen with baked goods, crafts, books and a white elephant table.

At 1 and 3 p.m. there will be a Wedding Cameo Fashion Show of bridal attire worn in the past 100 years. This will take place in the church sanctuary.

For those who are hungry, there will be L'il Doggies and Diet Pop drinks for sale at the corral.

Also, our famous cheesecake will be on sale on the lawn of the Stiver House and our delicious Barnburgers can be purchased at the "Corral Booth" in front of Crosby Arena.

Last, but not least, T-shirts and sweatshirts bearing the slogan "Life is Better in Unionville" will be on sale at Central Corral.

Many events are planned again for St. Philips Anglican Church on Main St. also and this year they are expanding.

Included in the 1986 festival events are:

- Sausage-on-a bun — A favorite for three festivals. Served on Fred Varley at Main St.

- Bake Table — Goodies go fast so get there early. Served at the northwest corner of Main St. and Carlton. Also at the Bake Table are festival plate and mug sales — see a local building depicted.

- The Monks' Cellar — Relax, enjoy a glass of wine and a piece of cheese in the St. Philips basement — one door north of Carlton.

- Hospitality area — Change diapers or have a rest — parking lot opposite the church.

- Juice/Fruit stand — spectators and event participants can

- quench a thirst — Toogood pond.
- Dollhouse raffle — Buy a ticket for a good cause — the new St. Philips church. The dollhouse is on display at the Bake Table.

The Unionville Alliance Church will be there too.

Besides participating in the parade with their float entitled

'Rooted in the Word', the church is entered in the Crazy Kraft race at Toogood pond.

Festival-goers can also be entertained by the Unionville Boys Quartet in front of the Dessert Pedlar at 158 Main St.

Free balloons and frozen drink sticks will also be available.

Lots to eat at Festival

Bop 'til you drop

What were you doing when the Beatles sang "She Loves You" or the Beach Boys serenaded "The Little Old Lady From Pasadena"?

Relive all those great memories as the Second Annual Solid Gold Dance kicks off the Unionville Festival on Friday, June 6.

Bop 'til you drop to the recorded favorites from CKEY. Dan Williamson will again host the action at Crosby Arena.

Judging by last year's turnout this year's Solid Gold Dance will be sold out. Get your tickets from Union Mills Casuals on Main Street or the Public Relations Department at Cullen Barris.

Tickets are $10 each with all proceeds going to The Miracle on Main Street, which is the expansion building fund of Central United Church.
