

Balloons, games, and the crazy antics of Doo Doo the Clown delighted students at Kateri Tekakwitha Catholic School's fun fair last week. Featured events were a bike rodeo, face painting, craft displays and bake sale.

Unionville couple $32,663 wealthier

Instead of digging into his pocket for family birthdays, Unionville resident Alex Marshment used the dates to win more than $32,000 in a recent Lottario draw.

Mr. Marshment snatched second prize in the May 24 draw by choosing five of the six numbers drawn and the corresponding bonus number.

Lucky digits 3, 5, 10, 19, 22, 37 and bonus number 4 made Mr. Marshment and wife Evelyn $32,663 wealthier.

"I don't actually plan to do very much with it," said Mr. Marshment at his Anna Russell Way home last week. "We may take a little trip to get away from the snow in the winter."

He has been playing Lottario since its inception in 1978 and said he occasionally matched numbers for smaller prizes. He watched the winning combination being drawn on television and immediately realized he'd picked a winner.

"This is the biggest one we've won," he noted. "It's enjoyable to do it and we both have a lot of fun."

He and Mrs. Marshment plan to continue playing with the same family birthday numbers though "I may occasionally switch to car licence numbers."

Crime seminar on Tuesday

A crime prevention seminar sponsored by the Markham Board of Trade is being held at the Fire Fighters Club on Tuesday.

Featured speakers include John Cooper, a member of the board of directors of Crime Stoppers and an expert on the Young Offenders Act; Michael Walsh, of Willmark Investigations, consultants in retail security; and Inspector Barry Delaney, of York Regional Police, co-ordinator of the force's Crime Stoppers program.

The seminar begins at 8:30 a.m. with coffee, donuts and an information discussion. Inspector Delaney, PC Cooper and Mr. Walsh will each speak on their respective areas of expertise.

The cost of the seminar is $15 per person. Seating is limited and must be reserved in advance. For further information or to reserve tickets, call 474-0730.

The Fire Fighters Club is located at 44 Esna Park Drive in Markham.
