First nine holes open at Glenway golf course

Glenway residents in Newmarket have cleared the dust from their irons and drivers — the first nine holes of Glenway Estates and Country Club are ready for play.

Officially opened last Thursday by Newmarket Mayor Ray Twinney, Glenway Chairman James Prichard and Vice-President Robert Hume, the course offers challenging competition for residents.

The opening also coincides with construction of the new clubhouse. When completed later this year, it will offer tennis courts, squash courts, a gymnasium, nautilus room, change rooms, sauna and whirlpool and an outdoor swimming pool.

The outdoor pool and deck will overlook the golf course's 18th green.

The 18-hole, par 72 course will span 147 acres throughout the development and is expected to be ready for play in the 1987 season. Approximately 55 per cent of all Glenway homes back onto fairways and wooded areas of the course.

For Newmarket residents outside the Glenway community, the clubhouse will include conference, family and business facilities.

"The opening of the first nine holes and the clubhouse construction marks the turning point in the Glenway project and the culmination of the work and dreams of Glenway builders," said Mr. Hume.

Glenway Estates and Country Club will feature over 800 single family homes and a 90-unit condominium covering 400 acres of land.
