

Dr. Janet Cawley Interim pastor

STOUFFVILLE — The congregation of Stouffville United Church will welcome their new interim minister, Sunday, Sept. 6.

Rev. Dr. Janet Cawley of Toronto performs what she describes as 'a specialized ministry', bridging the gap between the time one pastor leaves and another arrives.

She stresses the word 'interim'. "Permanency isn't possible," she says. She'll serve here one year, similar to her role at Ebenezer United Church near Milliken.

"When a congregation wants to take a breather, they call in someone on an interim basis," she explains. She resents the description 'filling in', saying her work will encompass all areas of pastoral care.

Rev. Cawley's career prior to ordination included a federal government appointment to the United Nations. She was stationed in Zierre (The Belgian Congo).

She later did graduate studies at Emmanuel College, University of Toronto.

It will be Rev. Cawley's first association with the United Church in Stouffville although prior to the interim appointment she met with the executive of the board.

"I'm always flattered when asked to stay, but permanency isn't possible," she stresses.

This type of arrangement creates a freedom, she says. "The people already know they don't have to live with you forever," she states half jokingly.

Rev. Cawley feels it's a good move. "Stouffville's a changing community. The church must think five to eight years into the future."

She wants to see Stouffville United as a "community church". Music as well as the spoken word are top priorities. So also are children. "I think services should be enjoyable events," she says.

Are lady ministers readily accepted today? she was asked.

"It's been fifty years since the ordination of women," Rev. Cawley replies, "ten percent of the clergy are female. In my opinion women ministers are a little better because they try a little harder," she concluded.

Two reasons to celebrate

Mr and Mrs Levi Smith, Parkview Apartments, Stouffville, were honored Saturday by family members and friends at an 'Open House' in the Wideman Mennonite Church. There are 24 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Saturday afternoon was a very special occasion for Lillie Smith, Watson Drive, Stouffville. An 'Open House' was enjoyed at the Silver Jubilee Club in honor of her ninetieth birthday. One of many visitors in attendance was Whitchurch-Stouffville Mayor Fran Sainsbury. Mayor Sainsbury, (shown here), presented the guest of honor with a framed plaque from the Town. Mrs Sainsbury suggested one of the reasons Lillie is enjoying such longevity is because she stayed out of politics. The gathering, Saturday was largely attended.

Editor's Mail

Not seen or heard

Dear Editor:
I wish to protest in the strongest possible way, the shifting of Whitchurch-Stouffville into the Provincial Riding of York-Durham.
This is a mistake of catastrophic proportions. I can't believe our M.P.P. (Mr Sorbara), or our Council had no advance notice of this happening. Neither can I believe they didn't have an opportunity to protest the decision.
To be linked up with municipalities like Brock and Uxbridge is one thing. I can live with that. But to be shifted from a Liberal to a Conservative Riding is unacceptable.
Like M.P.P. Ross Stevenson, we'll indeed be a voice crying in the wilderness.

Sincerely,
William (Bill) Duncan,
Manitoba Street,
Stouffville
